South Vietnamese Gain Major Victory

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese soldiers fighting in the heat and mud of the Mekong Delta badly mauled a Viet Cong force of about 1,500 men and won the greatest one-day battle of the delta war, military headquarters said today.

The battle against three Viet Cong battalions began Friday morning and cost the enemy 365 dead before the day was out. During the night, the Viet Cong slipped from the battlefield in small units but after sunrise today turned again to fight closely pursuing South Vietnamese rangers.

Only sketchy details, and no casualty figures, were available on today's fighting.

Initial battle reports said 60 government soldiers were killed and 102 wounded Friday before the enemy was encircled by armored columns and pinned down after being flushed from the sanctuary of the U-Minh forest 100 miles south of Saigon.

Three American advisers with the Vietnamese troops were reported wounded. Normally about three Americans accompany a South Vietnamese battalion on field operations.

The U.S. Military Assistance Command Vietnam (MACV) was exultant over the showing of the frequently criticized South Vietnamese army. Today's MACV communique said, "the ARVN (Army of the Republic of Vietnam) had a smashing victory in the delta yesterday. It was the biggest single day in delta history."

★ ★ ★ Viet Cong Force Mauled In Delta ★ ★ ★

The communique said no American ground units were involved, although American pilots flew more than half the day's 50 air strikes that accounted for about one-quarter of the Viet Cong casualties.

The South Vietnamese troops came from the 21st Division, one of the army's best rated units, and a reserve striking force of rangers. At the peak of the fight there were about five South Vietnamese battalions in the battle—about 2,500 men.

They were pitted against veteran Viet Cong units that evidently had been flushed out recently by young recruits. South Vietnamese headquarters reported that many of the Viet Cong bodies found on the battlefield appeared to be those of 13- to 15-year-old boys.

Associated Press correspondent George Esper, touring the battlefield today, reported the enemy had the latest type of Red Chinese weapons. U.S. advisers with the South Vietnamese troops reported some captured AD47 submachineguns were dated as recently as 1966. The South Vietnamese captured 64 weapons.

Esper reported that in today's fresh fighting, about six miles from the narrow canal which was the center of Friday's battle, the Viet Cong was holding prepared bunkers hidden beneath banana trees. These were being pounded by bombs and rockets from American and South Vietnamese jets.

The delta fighting climaxed a week of major battles across the country, almost all initiated by allied troops in which more than 1,000 Communists have been reported killed since Monday. The heaviest enemy losses outside the delta were inflicted by the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division, which routed a North Vietnamese regular unit along the coastal plains near Bong Son, killing an estimated 250.

The heavier ground operations in the South and the slackening air war in North Vietnam followed the seasonal pattern—the coming of monsoon rains to North Vietnam and the shift to dry weather in the South.

American and South Vietnamese staff officers feel Communist forces in the delta are hurting for manpower for the first time in the war. The finding of 13-year-olds on the battlefield Friday tended to bear this out.

Protests End In New York; Group Jeered

NEW YORK (AP) — Crowds of shoppers, office workers and theater patrons in Rockefeller Center cheered as the police herded a group of antiwar demonstrators into a van beneath the huge Christmas tree.

One girl demonstrator, believing the crowd was applauding their stand, raised her hand in a victory sign. The cheers became jeers. One man shouted, "Throw away the key after you lock them up!"

Four days of protests ended Friday on that note. They had failed both in their original goal of closing down the Whitehall Street induction center and in gaining the popular support predicted by their leaders.

Today members of the "Stop the Draft Week Committee" meet to evaluate their efforts but the failure had already been explained by one demonstrator who said simply: "Blame the cops."

Some 700 demonstrators streamed through Manhattan streets Friday, clashing with police and counterdemonstrators, disrupting sightseers and Christmas shoppers.

Police reported the arrest of 140 persons, bringing the total arrests for the week to 585. Most were charged with disorderly conduct and released without bond pending hearings.

In New Haven, Conn., about 30 demonstrators were arrested when they crossed barricades at the Army Induction Center during a two-hour antiwar protest by as many as 400 persons.

And in Washington president Lloyd H. Elliott of George Washington University suspended military recruiting on the campus until Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey's deferment stand "has been rescinded, overruled or clarified."

In a Nov. 8, 1967, letter to draft boards Hershey suggested they take away deferments of students and other who illegally interfere with the draft. Elliott said he acted on the recommendations of groups representing the faculty and students.

In New York Friday the demonstrators stayed away for the second day from the Whitehall center which police had effectively blocked the first two days.

Instead they raced through the streets from Battery Park up to Times Square and Rockefeller Center tieing up traffic but accomplishing little else.

Lynda Waits 'Here Comes Bride' In Her Wedding At White House

By FRANCES LEWINE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson walks his daughter, Lynda Bird, down the red-carpeted, marble halls of the White House today into the history books as the 14th White House bride.

The great presidential mansion was aglow with red and white flowers, mistletoe and a Christmasy atmosphere for its first wedding of a president's daugher in 53 years.

In the great gold and white East Room, 240 twinkling white candles sparkled amid an evergreen backdrop for a simple white altar that waited for Lynda, 23, and her bridegroom, Marine Capt. Charles S. Robb 28, to exchange vows of holy matrimony.

IT WAS as romantic a setting as any girl could want and hundreds of persons—from cooks to carpenters—had helped make it possible.

The bride-to-be had said she wanted to sleep late this morning, but the White House had a predawn starting schedule for the big wedding day.

Everything about the 4 p.m. EST wedding had been rehearsed—even the kisses of the bridal couple. But there were scores of last-minute details to be attended to.

The week-long round of prenuptial partying had left Lynda and Chuck a bit exhausted.

The windup wedding-eve dinner dance given by Robb's parents lasted until a bit past midnight. But it provided the bridal couple with a gay, musical version of a wedding and some of the pitfalls of married life.

Broadway stars Carol Lawrence and Gordon MacRae, dressed in bridal attire, sang excerpts from the musical "I Do, I Do" for Lynda's bridal party in the candle-lit atmosphere of a private Georgetown club.

WHEN THE stars finished their numbers, including some showing the typical kiss-and-make up squabbles, Lynda laughingly asked Miss Lawrence: "Is that what it's really like?"

President Johnson, who said he was quite nervous, like any father of the bride, provided a humorous and sentimental champagne toast at the party that brought tears to Lynda's eyes.

He still had to attend to business amid the romantic takeover of the White House and excused himself from the party to get back in time to meet a midnight deadline for a bill awaiting his signature.

It hardly seemed that presidential business could go on amid the wedding atmosphere, with 450 reporters, photographers and technicians gathering like bees around the White House.

They had come to report for the world the historic scene

Heart Passes Key Period In Transplant

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — Tiny indications that Louis Washkansky's body might be rejecting the transplanted heart he received a week ago have disappeared following slightly intensified treatment, one of the team of doctors attending him said today.

The signs were the first suggestions that the greatest threat to the heart transplant—the tendency of the body to reject foreign tissue placed in it—might have begun.

They were so small that they were no more than a "suspicion" of rejection and first appeared Friday, said Dr. T. O'Donovan.

Special tests conducted today following a slight stepping up in the treatment to counter "immunological rejection" showed they had disappeared, he added, with the comment:

"The signs were minimal. Washkansky's general position continues to improve."

Dr. O'Donovan was a member of the transplant team of doctors headed by Dr. Christian Barnard.

Airliner's Crash In Peru Kills 67

HUANUCO, Peru (AP) — Searchers pulled burned and mud-smeared bodies today from jungle underbrush on the rim of the Andes Mountains where a Peruvian airliner crashed in flames Friday, killing everyone aboard. Sixty-seven persons, including four Americans, were believed on the flight.

The Faucett Airlines four-engine DC6 plowed low into the side of Cerro Carpish mountain near midday, about 15 minutes after it took off from Huanuco with a load of holiday weekend passengers bound for the mountain resort of Tingo Maria.

The flight had stopped briefly at Huanuco en route from Lima, 155 miles to the north. Farmers who heard the crash later led police through thick vegetation to the wreckage scattered near a forest highway.

"Most of the bodies were burned and the others completely destroyed," said Col. Carlos Farje Allende, who led the first party to the shattered liner. Identification was difficult, he reported.

There was no explanation for the crash.

The Americans included Joseph Newman, 60, Las Vegas, Nev., and Robert and Corrine Houck, both 54, of Barberton, Ohio.

Mrs. and Mrs. Houck had been visiting their daughter, Joyce, 30, a missionary nurse at Huanuco.

The fourth American killed was identified as Evelyn Craig, 47. Her address was not given.

Barberton Couple Among Crash Victims

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — An Akron woman said two of the four Americans killed in a Peruvian airliner crash Friday were her brother, Robert Houck, and his wife Corrine, both 54, of nearby Barberton.

Mrs. Mildred Vandersall said the couple went to Peru to visit their daughter, Joyce, 30, a missionary nurse with the Christian Missionary and Alliance Church at Huanuco.

The Faucett Airlines four - engine DC6 crashed on the rim of the Andes Mountains after it took off from Huanuco for the mountain resort of Tingo Maria. All 67 persons aboard were killed.

Joyce Houck had been in Peru about two years and this was the first visit by her parents.

Houck was a layout man in the tin shop of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Chemical Division in Barberton.

Richard Vignos of near Highlandtown had hoped to be in the delivery room when his second child was born.

The stork caught up with Mr. and Mrs. Vignos while they were en route to City Hospital Friday, and Vignos pulled the family car off the 4-lane East Liverpool - Wellsville Rd., just north of Wellsville, and he and his wife — a nurse — welcomed their first son.

Heart Passes Key Period In Transplant

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — Tiny indications that Louis Washkansky's body might be rejecting the transplanted heart he received a week ago have disappeared following slightly intensified treatment, one of the team of doctors attending him said today.

The signs were the first suggestions that the greatest threat to the heart transplant—the tendency of the body to reject foreign tissue placed in it—might have begun.

They were so small that they were no more than a "suspicion" of rejection and first appeared Friday, said Dr. T. O'Donovan.

Special tests conducted today following a slight stepping up in the treatment to counter "immunological rejection" showed they had disappeared, he added, with the comment:

"The signs were minimal. Washkansky's general position continues to improve."

Dr. O'Donovan was a member of the transplant team of doctors headed by Dr. Christian Barnard.

4 Americans Die

Airliner's Crash In Peru Kills 67

HUANUCO, Peru (AP) — Searchers pulled burned and mud-smeared bodies today from jungle underbrush on the rim of the Andes Mountains where a Peruvian airliner crashed in flames Friday, killing everyone aboard. Sixty-seven persons, including four Americans, were believed on the flight.

The Faucett Airlines four-engine DC6 plowed low into the side of Cerro Carpish mountain near midday, about 15 minutes after it took off from Huanuco with a load of holiday weekend passengers bound for the mountain resort of Tingo Maria.

The flight had stopped briefly at Huanuco en route from Lima, 155 miles to the north. Farmers who heard the crash later led police through thick vegetation to the wreckage scattered near a forest highway.

"Most of the bodies were burned and the others completely destroyed," said Col. Carlos Farje Allende, who led the first party to the shattered liner. Identification was difficult, he reported.

There was no explanation for the crash.

The Americans included Joseph Newman, 60, Las Vegas, Nev., and Robert and Corrine Houck, both 54, of Barberton, Ohio.

Mrs. and Mrs. Houck had been visiting their daughter, Joyce, 30, a missionary nurse at Huanuco.

The fourth American killed was identified as Evelyn Craig, 47. Her address was not given.

Barberton Couple Among Crash Victims

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — An Akron woman said two of the four Americans killed in a Peruvian airliner crash Friday were her brother, Robert Houck, and his wife Corrine, both 54, of nearby Barberton.

Mrs. Mildred Vandersall said the couple went to Peru to visit their daughter, Joyce, 30, a missionary nurse with the Christian Missionary and Alliance Church at Huanuco.

The Faucett Airlines four - engine DC6 crashed on the rim of the Andes Mountains after it took off from Huanuco for the mountain resort of Tingo Maria. All 67 persons aboard were killed.

Joyce Houck had been in Peru about two years and this was the first visit by her parents.

Houck was a layout man in the tin shop of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Chemical Division in Barberton.

Gets Wish

Richard Vignos of near Highlandtown had hoped to be in the delivery room when his second child was born.

The stork caught up with Mr. and Mrs. Vignos while they were en route to City Hospital Friday, and Vignos pulled the family car off the 4-lane East Liverpool - Wellsville Rd., just north of Wellsville, and he and his wife — a nurse — welcomed their first son.

Vignos, a claims representative for the Social Security office, his wife and the baby are doing well today.

'I Do's' Come Early For New Zealanders

AUCKLAND (AP) — One person in every three who married in New Zealand last year was under 21. Fourteen years ago the proportion was one in six.

Chairman of the Auckland Marriage Guidance Council, Dr. James Gilmour, said improved nutrition leading to earlier maturity is a factor.

Dr. Alice Bush, president of the Family Planning Association, said that young people, putting their faith in the welfare state, were marrying without any savings, and this made the partnership terribly vulnerable.

She said statistics showed that as the number of minors' marriages increased, so too did the number of pregnant brides.

Of 3,223 19-year-old brides married last year, 1,155 had babies within seven months, she said.

from the 500 wedding guests to the six-foot wedding cake.

The White House was so jammed there was standing room only for the elaborate drama:

—The grand stairway descent of the bridal party to dramatic trumpet music played by the scarlet-coated Marine Band chamber orchestra.

—Six groomsmen in cutaways, two by two.

—Seven bridesmaids in long ruby red velvet gowns, including Lynda's 20-year-old sister, Luci Nugent, as matron of honor.

—The heroic strains of the "Bridal Chorus" from Wagner's Lohengrin—"Here Comes the Bride!"

—At the East Room altar, the handsome young bridegroom, a dashing figure in Marine dress blue uniform—a dark navy blue jacket with medals, sky blue trousers, with the two-inch scarlet stripe that symbolizes the courage of fellow Marines who shed their blood at Chapultepec in the Mexican War.

—The exchange of diamond-studded gold rings, the promise to love, comfort, honor and keep each other in sickness and in health "until death do us part" at the white carpeted altar, with a 2½-foot gold cross.

—:—

WHEN THE Episcopal marriage ceremony from the Book of Common Prayer ends with the Rev. Canon Gerald N. McAllister intoning "I pronounce that they are man and wife," Lynda and Chuck kneel on white satin cushions for a final blessing.

Then as the Marine Band strikes up Mendelssohn's "Wedding March," they take their exit under the arch of gleaming swords, held aloft at the East Room doorway by six of Robb's Marine officers.

An audience of prominent personalities, relatives and close friends came for the dramatic event.

A bride married at that same spot, in 1906, 83-year-old Alice Roosevelt Longworth, daughter of President Theodore Roosevelt, was invited among the 500 guests. And the list ranges from Supreme Court and Cabinet to Lynda's once favored beau, actor George Hamilton. He said he was making a jetplane dash to get there and back to a Saturday night stage show in Chicago where he has a leading role.

2 Murdered Women Pulled From Canal

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP) — The bodies of two murdered young women, wearing jewels and bathing suits with concrete blocks tied to their necks, were pulled today from a desolate canal that is a dumping ground for boat wrecks.

Police said they believe they were killed on a boat and dumped overboard.

Police Lt. Fred Rohloff said the women's heads were caved in and they each had been stabbed many times in the stomach.

Police said the spot was accessible only by boat through the Intracoastal Waterway, a sheltered highway for boats that parallels the Atlantic Ocean about 100 yards of beach separating the two. There are no buildings within about one-half mile.

Insurance Policies Will Go Up Monday

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — An average $6.50 annual boost has been tacked on to about 500,000 fire and extended coverage insurance policies in the state, the Ohio Department of Insurance said.

Small Claims Cases Hit 24; Hearings Due

Twenty - four cases have been filed in less than three weeks since establishment of a small claims division within the framework of the Municipal Court. Judge Samuel M. Chertoff is scheduled to hear the civil actions in three sessions next week.

Ten of the cases are assigned for hearing in a session that will begin Monday at 3 p. m. Five more will be heard Wednesday, starting at 2 p. m., and the last nine are assigned for Thursday at 2 p. m.

The small claims divisions were set up, effective Nov. 21, in municipal and county courts throughout Ohio. It's a so-called "poor man's court" because the maximum amount which can be sought is $150. Plaintiffs may file an action for a $2 fee.

In addition to individuals, small businessmen have taken advantage of the new law that allows them to sue for small accounts without the necessity of hiring an attorney and paying other expenses. Of the 24 cases assigned for next week, two were filed by a neighborhood grocery; five were initiated by a small hardware, three were filed by a dress shop and five were entered by a neighborhood pharmacy. The amounts sought range downward as far as $8.

Judge Chertoff will hear the cases informally in the relaxed atmosphere of his chambers, rather than in the formal surroundings of the courtroom. The law provides that he will "endeavor to conciliate" the claims and allows the court at its discretion to permit a defendant to pay off any judgment in weekly installments.

When the new division was established, the judge pointed out the law permitted him to hire an administrative assistant to handle the paperwork plus a referee — who must be an attorney — to hear the cases. But he said the court's present staff will handle the work unless the press of business grows entirely too heavy.

Chairman of the Auckland Marriage Guidance Council, Dr. James Gilmour, said improved nutrition leading to earlier maturity is a factor.

Dr. Alice Bush, president of the Family Planning Association, said that young people, putting their faith in the welfare state, were marrying without any savings, and this made the partnership terribly vulnerable.

She said statistics showed that as the number of minors' marriages increased, so too did the number of pregnant brides.

Of 3,223 19-year-old brides married last year, 1,155 had babies within seven months, she said.

Lynda

from the 500 wedding guests to the six-foot wedding cake.

The White House was so jammed there was standing room only for the elaborate drama:

—The grand stairway descent of the bridal party to dramatic trumpet music played by the scarlet-coated Marine Band chamber orchestra.

—Six groomsmen in cutaways, two by two.

—Seven bridesmaids in long ruby red velvet gowns, including Lynda's 20-year-old sister, Luci Nugent, as matron of honor.

—The heroic strains of the "Bridal Chorus" from Wagner's Lohengrin—"Here Comes the Bride!"

—At the East Room altar, the handsome young bridegroom, a dashing figure in Marine dress blue uniform—a dark navy blue jacket with medals, sky blue trousers, with the two-inch scarlet stripe that symbolizes the courage of fellow Marines who shed their blood at Chapultepec in the Mexican War.

—The exchange of diamond-studded gold rings, the promise to love, comfort, honor and keep each other in sickness and in health "until death do us part" at the white carpeted altar, with a 2½-foot gold cross.

—:—

WHEN THE Episcopal marriage ceremony from the Book of Common Prayer ends with the Rev. Canon Gerald N. McAllister intoning "I pronounce that they are man and wife," Lynda and Chuck kneel on white satin cushions for a final blessing.

Then as the Marine Band strikes up Mendelssohn's "Wedding March," they take their exit under the arch of gleaming swords, held aloft at the East Room doorway by six of Robb's Marine officers.

An audience of prominent personalities, relatives and close friends came for the dramatic event.

A bride married at that same spot, in 1906, 83-year-old Alice Roosevelt Longworth, daughter of President Theodore Roosevelt, was invited among the 500 guests. And the list ranges from Supreme Court and Cabinet to Lynda's once favored beau, actor George Hamilton. He said he was making a jetplane dash to get there and back to a Saturday night stage show in Chicago where he has a leading role.

2 Murdered Women Pulled From Canal

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP) — The bodies of two murdered young women, wearing jewels and bathing suits with concrete blocks tied to their necks, were pulled today from a desolate canal that is a dumping ground for boat wrecks.

Police said they believe they were killed on a boat and dumped overboard.

Police Lt. Fred Rohloff said the women's heads were caved in and they each had been stabbed many times in the stomach.

Police said the spot was accessible only by boat through the Intracoastal Waterway, a sheltered highway for boats that parallels the Atlantic Ocean about 100 yards of beach separating the two. There are no buildings within about one-half mile.

Insurance Policies Will Go Up Monday

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — An average $6.50 annual boost has been tacked on to about 500,000 fire and extended coverage insurance policies in the state, the Ohio Department of Insurance said.

James S. Kennon, assistant state insurance director, said the hike would facilitate extended coverage against riots, explosions, windstorms, hail and falling aircraft. Affected are dwellings only – and not "homeowner" policies or businesses, the department said.

Small Claims Cases Hit 24; Hearings Due

Twenty - four cases have been filed in less than three weeks since establishment of a small claims division within the framework of the Municipal Court. Judge Samuel M. Chertoff is scheduled to hear the civil actions in three sessions next week.

Ten of the cases are assigned for hearing in a session that will begin Monday at 3 p. m. Five more will be heard Wednesday, starting at 2 p. m., and the last nine are assigned for Thursday at 2 p. m.

The small claims divisions were set up, effective Nov. 21, in municipal and county courts throughout Ohio. It's a so-called "poor man's court" because the maximum amount which can be sought is $150. Plaintiffs may file an action for a $2 fee.

In addition to individuals, small businessmen have taken advantage of the new law that allows them to sue for small accounts without the necessity of hiring an attorney and paying other expenses. Of the 24 cases assigned for next week, two were filed by a neighborhood grocery; five were initiated by a small hardware, three were filed by a dress shop and five were entered by a neighborhood pharmacy. The amounts sought range downward as far as $8.

Judge Chertoff will hear the cases informally in the relaxed atmosphere of his chambers, rather than in the formal surroundings of the courtroom. The law provides that he will "endeavor to conciliate" the claims and allows the court at its discretion to permit a defendant to pay off any judgment in weekly installments.

When the new division was established, the judge pointed out the law permitted him to hire an administrative assistant to handle the paperwork plus a referee — who must be an attorney — to hear the cases. But he said the court's present staff will handle the work unless the press of business grows entirely too heavy.

Q.—How can I keep moths away from my knitting yarns?

War At Home No. 1 Issue, Nixon Warns

NEW YORK (AP) — Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon urges new initiatives in the war against racial injustice and says the struggle is more important than the war in Vietnam.

"The war in Asia is a limited one with limited means and limited goals. The war at home is a war for survival of a free society," he says.

Nixon, an unannounced candidate for the 1968 Republican presidential nomination, told a dinner meeting of the National Association of Manufacturers Friday night, "the ultimate testing place of America is America itself."

"If we are divided, if we default on the promises we have made to ourselves, the foundation on which we are attempting to build a better future will crumble," he said.

Nixon said the Negro was the chief victim of urban violence. He added that if the trend toward racial guerrilla warfare continues "the law-abiding Negro—the great quiet majority—will feel most cruelly and unfairly the weight of repression."

A central cause of the violence in the cities, he said, is that "extravagant promises have been made to the Negro. Worse than not keeping a promise is making a promise that cannot be kept."

Water Line Plan Spurred

Plans were advanced for a survey of an extension of a water line to assist the Irondale system in dry weather when three representatives from the Edison school district and the village of Irondale attended a meeting of the Board of Jefferson County Commissioners Friday morning in the courthouse at Steubenville.

Henderson, superintendent of the Stanton Local School District, attended the meeting to obtain the water line extension from the Pleasant Hills - Knoxville-Empire-New Somerset water supply system to supplement the Irondale water system during low water times and emergencies.

LBJ's Critics Challenged

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey challenged Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy and other critics of the administration today to step forward with clear ideas on how to do the job better.

Humphrey's remarks were prepared for delivery at a meeting of the Minnesota Democratic-Farmers-Labor party State Central Committee.

Friday night McCarthy told the Minnesota Concerned Democrats the Vietnam war has gone too far "in terms of cost and what possible good could come of it" and said Cabinet spokesmen spend their time defending the Johnson administration while troubles pile up in their own departments.

Humphrey said he was addressing all his fellow Democrats—"regular, irregular; liberal, conservative; agreeing, dissenting—and 'Concerned.'"

He added, "I do not think being 'concerned' is the special prerogative of any single party or group.

"I believe 'concerned' is also an accurate description of the leadership which the Johnson-Humphrey administration has given our country.

"But we have been more than concerned. We have acted on that concern."

The vice president said the administration has been concerned and acted on such issues as education, health, pollution of water and air, economic growth and stability of the dollar, the "plight" of rural Americans, discrimination and racial injustice.

Referring to the nation's involvement in Asia and the war in Vietnam, the vice president said, "we are talking about the hard facts today of Communist aggression and subversion across a vast continent."

Car Tears Up Fence, Posts

About 40 feet of fence and posts were knocked down early today in an apparent hit-skip accident on Peake St. and four cars were damaged in two other accidents in the city Friday afternoon. No one was injured.

Police said the fence was torn out at the home of Charlotte Lewis of 1037 Peake St. about 12:09 a.m. A witness said she heard a loud noise and looked outside in time to see taillights going out Peake at a high rate of speed. Then, she added, she saw that the fence had been ripped.

Two autos collided at the intersection of Riverview and Morton Sts., about 5:04 p.m. Friday.

Officers reported cars driven by Dianne M. Stacey, 21, of 1709 Smithfield St. and Gary D. Stanley, 21, of 1514 St. Clair Ave. were damaged in the collision at the intersection. Police said neither driver saw the other until it was too late to avoid the crash. They reported both autos slid on gravel in an attempt to avert the wreck. No arrests were made.

An auto damaged a parked car at the intersection of Drury Ln. and Market St. about 3:55 Friday afternoon.

Authorities said Jimmie L. Sands of Malta, Ohio, was pulling his auto from Drury Ln. onto Market St. when he scraped the left rear portion of an auto driven by John W. Paul of 1052 St. Clair Ave., which made a stop for a delivery.

War At Home No. 1 Issue, Nixon Warns

NEW YORK (AP) — Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon urges new initiatives in the war against racial injustice and says the struggle is more important than the war in Vietnam.

"The war in Asia is a limited one with limited means and limited goals. The war at home is a war for survival of a free society," he says.

Nixon, an unannounced candidate for the 1968 Republican presidential nomination, told a dinner meeting of the National Association of Manufacturers Friday night, "the ultimate testing place of America is America itself."

"If we are divided, if we default on the promises we have made to ourselves, the foundation on which we are attempting to build a better future will crumble," he said.

Nixon said the Negro was the chief victim of urban violence. He added that if the trend toward racial guerrilla warfare continues "the law-abiding Negro—the great quiet majority—will feel most cruelly and unfairly the weight of repression."

A central cause of the violence in the cities, he said, is that "extravagant promises have been made to the Negro. Worse than not keeping a promise is making a promise that cannot be kept."

Local Couple Regains Auto After Chase

Plans were advanced for a survey of an extension of a water line to assist the Irondale system in dry weather when three representatives from the Edison school district and the village of Irondale attended a meeting of the Board of Jefferson County Commissioners Friday morning in the courthouse at Steubenville.

Michael Blischak, commissioner, said that Mayor Earl Lowry, former Mayor Quenton Henderson and C. P. Henderson, superintendent of the Stanton Local School District, attended the meeting to obtain the water line extension from the Pleasant Hills - Knoxville-Empire-New Somerset water supply system to supplement the Irondale water system during low water times and emergencies.

It also could serve Hammondsville and the area between Hammondsville and New Somerset, it was pointed out. Village officials have discussed plans with Cerrone and Vaughn, consulting engineers for the county.

Blischak said the amount the village must pay for the water, when it is used, would be a minimum of $80 a month.

Down By The Old Mill Stream Today

Six members of the President's Cabinet begin a conference on "Communities of Tomorrow. How Rural? How Urban?"

"Distribute the earth as you will, the principal question remains inexorable — Who is to dig it? Which of us, in brief words, is to do the hard and dirty work for the rest, and for what pay?"—John Ruskin

Between 500,000 and 600,000 persons, most of them young, migrate from the country to the city every year. Today 70 per cent of our people live on 1.2 per cent of the land.

Most newcomers to the city are ill-prepared to cope with their new surroundings and lack supportive skills. The trend goes back to World War II and farther. It became a problem of national concern at least a dozen years ago.

There were 5,382,162 farms in 1950; only 4,782,393 in 1954, as disclosed by the 1955 Census of Agriculture. Significantly enough, in the big farm category — 500 acres and up — there was actually a growth of 18,485 farms.

Population profiles show departure from farms accounts for the drop in the proportion of the rural to the whole population. On the eve of World War I, one out of three Americans still lived on farms. Today only one in 17 does.

The farm population in 1966 was estimated at 11.6 million, down from 15.6 million in 1960. The current rate of farm population loss — about 5 per cent a year — is expected to continue.

More than a year ago, President Johnson appointed a National Advisory Commission on Rural Poverty. The panel has completed its study and sent its recommendations to the White House. The President may make the Dec. 11-12 symposium on urban overcrowding and rural decline the occasion to outline legislative proposals to reverse the trend, or at least slow it down.

What can the government do? Can you keep 'em down on the farm? Should you?

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey on Oct. 11 summed up the thrust of many rural-aid proposals. "We can," he said, "offer tax incentives, subsidies, new programs of cooperative partnership between government and private enterprise, such as we are putting to work in our big cities."

Some of the remedies are dubious: Robert A. Levine of the Office of Economic Opportunity, in a memo of last June reported: 'Programs which try to cure rural poverty by creating a personal or community economic base under conditions where such a base does not exist are seldom going to work. Parts of the South have been undergoing extensive industrial development for 40 years, and they still have more than their proportion of poverty. Industrial projects for such areas. . .can use up an awful lot of money, create very few jobs, and of the jobs they do create, reserve even fewer for the poor."

New Manchester

New Manchester has officially become a part of the Tri-State District nomenclature, replacing Pughtown as the name for the pleasant little Hancock County village on Route 2 south of Chester.

Not truly a new title, since New Manchester was the name given the original plats in 1810 by David Pugh, it is nevertheless now historically correct, geographically proper, communally desired and appropriate for the aim of some residents to capture the atmosphere of earlier days.

It may be a while before everyone in the district remembers the change. But almost everyone agrees it is a change for the better.

In Case You Wonder About It

Somewhere in this world, medical researchers are doing painstaking spadework to unearth a way to make a human body accept tissues and organs from another human body.

The Cape Town, South Africa, medical experiment with a transplanted heart now is medical history, But the ultimate success of this incredible procedure, like every other surgical procedure involving transplanted tissues and organs, depends on acceptance. It is not known why a human body will not accept tissues that are similar but not related by blood to its other parts.

The mystery is being plumbed. Bodies will accept organs from related bodies, such as close blood relatives. But some way must be found to guarantee acceptance. Only then will this startling feat of transplanting organs reach the threshold of feasibility.

We wonder about the 21st century. What will it bring? We can be certain that in another century everything we are doing now will appear to have been crude, unimaginative and archaic. Humans in 2067 no longer will die because of functional failure of hearts, kidneys, stomachs and lungs.

They will be hustled to a spare parts center and rebuilt. With what? Why, with spare parts salvaged from bodies junked because they no longer were worth repairing.

When And Where

A reather curious reference point of readership in The Review was revealed this week by a speaker before a local organization.

The visitor wryly reported his wife had asked him why he had not told her he was going to talk before the group, and he answered it had slipped his mind. He then questioned her about how she had learned it.

The wife replied she had read it in the newspaper, part of a column the heading of which she could not immediately recall. After futile efforts to think of the name, she said, "You know, where it tells you when they are going to pick up the trash."

The laughter which followed proved a faint equating, a jocund juxtaposition of the speaker's talents and rubbish—unfounded and untrue.

Nevertheless, the joke provoked some not very serious staff considerations of whether there are any "guilt by association" attitudes among readers of the "Here and There" column, whether there could be mental ties between paragraphs.

Newspapers are "departmentalized" to some degree to aid the reader in locating specific news or features — editorials, sports, comics, obituaries, etc.

The "Here And There" section is a catch-all of items ranging from births, patients, minor crimes, student accomplishments, meeting notices and other tidbits, along with some advertisements of bargains or special sales.

The widely read column is a source of intresting if not world-shaking information, and can be all things to all people. Which goes directly to the heart of what news is.

No matter how skillfully a reporter obtains the facts and writes them, no matter how the editors arrange the stories and photographs and style the headlines, the value of a newspaper is how it serves the reader.

To someone who wants to know when to put out the trash can, no amount of bulletins about the United Nations, LBJ, CIA, DeGaulle, Gov. Rhodes or Courthouse politics can really help as much as "Here And There."

It might not advise all women where their husbands are going to be tomorrow night, but it can tell many where they should be.

Space Investment Pays Off

Trying to get a fix on true perspective of the U.S. space program is akin to standing in a maze of 20th century technological wonders and peering through an "Alice in Wonderland" mirror into some fantastic fairyland of the future.

Critics of the American space program have one common fault; they are limited in their assessment. They have a tendency to see space exploration as the only tangible asset of the program.

Byproducts of the 10-year-old space effort already are contributing to a better everyday life for American citizens.

Space achievements so far have provided information leading to better consumer products; increased employment opportunity by thousands of new jobs; revised navigation, communication and weather prognostication systems; assembled technological information used to reduce manufacturing costs and prevent space from being a direct military threat to the United States.

So much for he record of the space program at this point. Now lets take a look through that mirror into the future.

Obviously, a lunar landing will be a springboard to exploration of other planets and de space. But what else is there to look forward to.

One advance will be the ability not only to predict the weather but to control it. The satellite program will enable us to improve harvest, prevent crop diseases and control floods.

Space technology will lead to a formidable attack on air and water pollution.

Propulsion system refinements will solve many of our transportation problems.

Continuing research will perpetuate an expanding economy.

The first decade of the space age has merely scratched the surface of potential good. An immense expanse for growth and development lies ahead. There has never been a challenge like it.

It is the key to solution of a myriad of problems facing our nation through a mushrooming population as we close out the 20th century and race into the 21st.

Whenever I am confronted with the puzzle of how much to tip for a service performed, I decide how much I would expect if I had performed the service and tip accordingly. Comedians have their followings, depending on what strikes the followers funny. Among comedians who never struck me funny was the late Bert Lahr, one of the best in the business. But W. C. Fields, an in-and-outer who left many people cold, broke me up on sight.

VICTOR RIESEL

Labor Bloc Wants LBJ Help

BAL HARBOUR — Bluntly, and in proletarian prose, powerful labor leaders have warned President Johnson that his administration will have to deliver if he expects the union chiefs to get into the "front-line trenches" and deliver a vote during the coming presidential campaign year.

Victor Riesel

Fiercely, seafarer Paul Hall, speaking for at least 6 million of the AFL-CIO's 14 million members, said the time had come not only to talk of getting out the vote for Mr. Johnson, but of having "a clear understanding" between the "authorities on both sides."

Quitely, the broad-shouldered, husky Hall, chief not only of his own sailors' union but of the multimillion member AFL-CIO Maritime Trades Dept., cut to tiny ribbons many of the administration's departments, sometimes in swift eloquence, sometimes in the toughest talk ever hurled at federal officials. Hall is also a policy-making national AFL-CIO vice tpresident.

Though surrounded by Senators, Representatives and Pentagon brass who have been mingling with 1,000 delegates to the Seventh Constitutional AFL-CIO National Convention, Hall charged that neither President Johnson, nor Labor Secretary Wirtz, nor White House officials knew, for example, that government agencies often were prosecutors and executioners of labor leaders.

Looking at several union officials at a Maritime Trades Dept. conference, the seafaring chief charged that the government had "wrecked the lives" of several in the auditorium.

THEN HE ACCUSED high officials of the Labor Dept.—without the knowledge of Secretary of Labor Willard Wirtz—of "pimping."

Hall, easily one of the three or four most influential men in the huge labor federation, charged that the Labor Dept. had hired ex-FBI men and "shoeflies" (official snoopers) to persecute as well as prosecute labor officials.

"I thought pimping had been outlawed," said Hall, while his fellow labor leaders cheered, stomped and applauded. "But apparently not. The Labor Dept. men stand outside the plants and solicit complaints against us (for prosecution under the Landrum-Griffin law)."

"This," said Hall in a chilled voice, is 'pimping.'" Earlier, he had mocked the government officials who, he said, were cracking down unduly on organized labor for the most minor infractions. He was "confused," he added, and he is a man not easily given to confusion nor public admission of indecision.

Those who know Hall know not to take his words lightly—especially on the political front. His own Seafarers Union has one of the most effective political networks radiating out of the big councils in each port city on the coasts, lakes and rivers. His Maritime Trades Dept. is more tightly organized than any other in the AFL-CIO. It is closely intertwined with the 3.5 million member Building and Construction Trades Dept.

Thus he is the central wheel of the power blocs inside the AFL-CIO. He has fought President Johnson in Congress and beaten him on legislation. He has challenged and defeated a series of Cabinet members. And he often is talked of as eventual successor to President George Meany when that distant day comes.

SO HE LAID IT on the line. He spoke not only for himself but for the vast hard core of the massive labor federation.

And Paul Hall wants more than mere relief from what he dubs persecution and execution. He wants delivery from the White House, the administration and the Congress of laws of special interest to organized labor.

"On this front," Hall, backed by his powerful coalition, says plainly, "we have received nothing from this administration in a form of cooperation in supporting the areas so badly needed by us."

What Hall's bloc wants is the passage of such measures as "common situs picketing." This would give labor the right to picket all gates of big projects such as space bases, large urban renewal demolition and construction, though the union dispute is with but one of a score of contractors.

Hall and his alies want the repeal of the famed 14-B clause which permits states to ban the union shop and the dues checkoff.

Passage of the first and repeal of the second would give organized labor great new strength and save it scores of millions of dollars which could be diverted to new organization and political campaigns.

"I believe," Hall summed it all up, "that what we must look forward to in the coming election is not just some question coming up about getting a vote. But I think we should have a clear understanding with the proper authorities on both sides as to the administration of law in the day-to-day work in the front-line trenches where you people (the delegates) are engaged throughout the year, so that we may receive the type of cooperstion that we properly deserve."

So President Johnson is being told by men who deal in the collateral of power that it is as blessed to give as to receive—especially during a presidential campaign year.

Party In Power

Almost everybody talks about inflation, but nobody does much about it.

Economists give plenty of advice, but few are willing to point to the real reason America is passing through one of the most critical periods in its business history.

The realistic fact is there is a costly war going on in Vietnam, but no wage-and-price controls have been imposed by Congress.

As a consequence, national labor unions are free to threaten strikes and to compel the adoption of higher and higher wage scales. Industrial management then is faced with the necessity of increasing prices.

The big steel companies, one by one, have announced an increase of $5 a ton for certain types of steel which account for nearly 40 per cent of the industry's shipments. The head of Armoc Steel Corp. calls the industry a "victim" rather than the "instigator" of inflation.

But the steel industry is the victim also of something else—the heavy influx of foreign steel.

EFFORTS TO get Congress to establish a series of quotas to prevent present imports from increasing substantially in the next few years have thus far proved fruitless. So, the steel companies, in order to conserve profits, have found themselves compelled to increase prices of certain kinds of steel which their competitors from abroad do not supply in big enough quantities to fill the needs of customers in this country.

The steel industry, moreover, has to move its prices upward to meet the demands for increased wages by steelworkers. Critical negotiations with the unions are to be held in the next few weeks.

Everybody in government is aware of the fundamental changes in the wage-and-price structure of industry generally that are being made, but little attention is being paid to the impact of such changes on the national economy as a whole. Perhaps there is a key in what is reported in a UPI dispatch from Miami, which says:

"The AFL-CIO executive council on the eve of the federation's convention assured the Johnson administration it will have little trouble with labor in next year's election."

As far as votes in the 1968 election are concerned, labor can muster many times the number that management can.

So the problem comes right back to the doorstep of the administration in Washington and the majority party in Congress. It is their responsibility to watch out for the future of the national economy and to avoid a depression.

Even if the inflation is halted in the next few months, effects of the decrease in the purchasing power of the dollar which has already taken place will be felt. This means hardships for millions of people, particularly those who live on fixed incomes.

With all the talk about legislation to benefit the "public welfare," on the one hand, and huge deficits on the other, Congress continues to authorize the expenditure of additional billions for various projects which grow more and more expensive each year.

President Johnson's only argument thus far has been that there must be a tax increase through what is known as a 10 per cent "surcharge."

CONGRESS WANTS to see the budget cut. The White House answers that this is the function of Congress, not the president. So each side passes the buck to the other.

The result is that nothing is really being done to arrest the inflation and produce a sound economy.

Rarely has three been a time when there has been such a conspicuous shirking of responsibility by a party in power.

During the Korean War, as well as during World War II and World War I, wage-and-price controls were enacted.

Nobody liked the limitations, as it is uncomfortable for business or labor unions to operate under restrictions even when they have to be imposed. But at least the situation was controlled by the government, and the future growth of business and labor was not injured in the process.

Congress has not yet finished its work for this session, and it is trying to get from the administration some further cuts in expenditures. The effort is not succeeding.

So the outlook is for more inflation, unless the President comes out for wage-and-price controls and Congress, at the January session, is ready to write them into law.

Down By The Old Mill Stream Today

Six members of the President's Cabinet begin a conference on "Communities of Tomorrow. How Rural? How Urban?"

"Distribute the earth as you will, the principal question remains inexorable — Who is to dig it? Which of us, in brief words, is to do the hard and dirty work for the rest, and for what pay?"—John Ruskin

Between 500,000 and 600,000 persons, most of them young, migrate from the country to the city every year. Today 70 per cent of our people live on 1.2 per cent of the land.

Most newcomers to the city are ill-prepared to cope with their new surroundings and lack supportive skills. The trend goes back to World War II and farther. It became a problem of national concern at least a dozen years ago.

There were 5,382,162 farms in 1950; only 4,782,393 in 1954, as disclosed by the 1955 Census of Agriculture. Significantly enough, in the big farm category — 500 acres and up — there was actually a growth of 18,485 farms.

Population profiles show departure from farms accounts for the drop in the proportion of the rural to the whole population. On the eve of World War I, one out of three Americans still lived on farms. Today only one in 17 does.

The farm population in 1966 was estimated at 11.6 million, down from 15.6 million in 1960. The current rate of farm population loss — about 5 per cent a year — is expected to continue.

More than a year ago, President Johnson appointed a National Advisory Commission on Rural Poverty. The panel has completed its study and sent its recommendations to the White House. The President may make the Dec. 11-12 symposium on urban overcrowding and rural decline the occasion to outline legislative proposals to reverse the trend, or at least slow it down.

What can the government do? Can you keep 'em down on the farm? Should you?

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey on Oct. 11 summed up the thrust of many rural-aid proposals. "We can," he said, "offer tax incentives, subsidies, new programs of cooperative partnership between government and private enterprise, such as we are putting to work in our big cities."

Some of the remedies are dubious: Robert A. Levine of the Office of Economic Opportunity, in a memo of last June reported: 'Programs which try to cure rural poverty by creating a personal or community economic base under conditions where such a base does not exist are seldom going to work. Parts of the South have been undergoing extensive industrial development for 40 years, and they still have more than their proportion of poverty. Industrial projects for such areas. . .can use up an awful lot of money, create very few jobs, and of the jobs they do create, reserve even fewer for the poor."

New Manchester

New Manchester has officially become a part of the Tri-State District nomenclature, replacing Pughtown as the name for the pleasant little Hancock County village on Route 2 south of Chester.

Not truly a new title, since New Manchester was the name given the original plats in 1810 by David Pugh, it is nevertheless now historically correct, geographically proper, communally desired and appropriate for the aim of some residents to capture the atmosphere of earlier days.

It may be a while before everyone in the district remembers the change. But almost everyone agrees it is a change for the better.

In Case You Wonder About It

Somewhere in this world, medical researchers are doing painstaking spadework to unearth a way to make a human body accept tissues and organs from another human body.

The Cape Town, South Africa, medical experiment with a transplanted heart now is medical history, But the ultimate success of this incredible procedure, like every other surgical procedure involving transplanted tissues and organs, depends on acceptance. It is not known why a human body will not accept tissues that are similar but not related by blood to its other parts.

The mystery is being plumbed. Bodies will accept organs from related bodies, such as close blood relatives. But some way must be found to guarantee acceptance. Only then will this startling feat of transplanting organs reach the threshold of feasibility.

We wonder about the 21st century. What will it bring? We can be certain that in another century everything we are doing now will appear to have been crude, unimaginative and archaic. Humans in 2067 no longer will die because of functional failure of hearts, kidneys, stomachs and lungs.

They will be hustled to a spare parts center and rebuilt. With what? Why, with spare parts salvaged from bodies junked because they no longer were worth repairing.

When And Where

A reather curious reference point of readership in The Review was revealed this week by a speaker before a local organization.

The visitor wryly reported his wife had asked him why he had not told her he was going to talk before the group, and he answered it had slipped his mind. He then questioned her about how she had learned it.

The wife replied she had read it in the newspaper, part of a column the heading of which she could not immediately recall. After futile efforts to think of the name, she said, "You know, where it tells you when they are going to pick up the trash."

The laughter which followed proved a faint equating, a jocund juxtaposition of the speaker's talents and rubbish—unfounded and untrue.

Nevertheless, the joke provoked some not very serious staff considerations of whether there are any "guilt by association" attitudes among readers of the "Here and There" column, whether there could be mental ties between paragraphs.

LISBON — The Manos Theater building on S. Market St. has been sold at sheriff's sale to Gray Kodrich Office Supplies, 125 S. Market, for $3,600.

Columbiana County lost several thousands of dollars in delinquent taxes in the transaction.

Constructed in 1938 by the late George A. Manos of Toronto, the building has not been used for several years. Council had the sagging marqueee removed about two years ago as a hazard.

The property is immediately south of the Gray Kodrich store and print shop. Owners Bessie B. Gray and Dora A. Kodrrich hope to rent the theater until they are ready to use it in their business.

A MOMENT OF MEDITATION
"I Just Do Not Care"

One of the great problems that we face when we try to interest people in the religion of Christ, is the problem of indifference. Many people act as though they think they will live forever. They will tell us that they think religion is fine for some people but they are just not interested. Most of these people seem to indicate that some time in the future they might have an interest in religion but that they are just not interested now.

The fallacy of this kind of reasoning can be clearly seen. None of us know just how long that God will permit us to live here on the earth. Death is an appointment that God has made for each of us. We cannot cancel this appointment but must answer when we are called. Heb. 9:27 "And as it is appointed unto men once to die, but after this the judgment." We cannot know just what time we will have to die. Thus, it should be evident that constant preparation is needed if we expect to be ready to face death. The Lord has a right to expect more of us than just a "last Minute" preparation. If we expect to get to Heaven, we should get ready to go there just as soon as we know what to do. It is dangerous for us to put off obedience to God when we know what God wants us to do. We might not get the opportunity again to make things right with God.

The Bible makes it known to us that we all are guilty of sin in the sight of God. Every person who is old enough to know the difference in things that are right and things that are wrong, has commited sin in the sight of God. Sin is transgression of the Law of God. 1 Jno. 3:4 "Whosoever committeth sin transgresseth also the law: for sin is the transgression of the law." Thus, when we transgress God's law, we become guilty of sin.

The Lord provided the answer for the problem of sin when he commanded that all who are guilty of sin repent of that sin and then be baptized so that this sin could be remitted. Acts 2:38, Mk. 16:15,16.

Some have not obeyed these commands because they do not know that they have been commanded by the Lord. These people need to be taught the true way of the Lord. Some have not obeyed because they refuse to obey. These people need to be reminded of the punishment that is prepared for the disobedient. 2 Thess. 1:7-10. Still others have not obeyed these commands because they are just indifferent. They just do not care. How can we be indifferent about Heaven and Hell? How can we be indifferent about eternal death?

A MOMENT OF MEDITATION
"I Just Do Not Care"

One of the great problems that we face when we try to interest people in the religion of Christ, is the problem of indifference. Many people act as though they think they will live forever. They will tell us that they think religion is fine for some people but they are just not interested. Most of these people seem to indicate that some time in the future they might have an interest in religion but that they are just not interested now.

The fallacy of this kind of reasoning can be clearly seen. None of us know just how long that God will permit us to live here on the earth. Death is an appointment that God has made for each of us. We cannot cancel this appointment but must answer when we are called. Heb. 9:27 "And as it is appointed unto men once to die, but after this the judgment." We cannot know just what time we will have to die. Thus, it should be evident that constant preparation is needed if we expect to be ready to face death. The Lord has a right to expect more of us than just a "last Minute" preparation. If we expect to get to Heaven, we should get ready to go there just as soon as we know what to do. It is dangerous for us to put off obedience to God when we know what God wants us to do. We might not get the opportunity again to make things right with God.

The Bible makes it known to us that we all are guilty of sin in the sight of God. Every person who is old enough to know the difference in things that are right and things that are wrong, has commited sin in the sight of God. Sin is transgression of the Law of God. 1 Jno. 3:4 "Whosoever committeth sin transgresseth also the law: for sin is the transgression of the law." Thus, when we transgress God's law, we become guilty of sin.

The Lord provided the answer for the problem of sin when he commanded that all who are guilty of sin repent of that sin and then be baptized so that this sin could be remitted. Acts 2:38, Mk. 16:15,16.

Some have not obeyed these commands because they do not know that they have been commanded by the Lord. These people need to be taught the true way of the Lord. Some have not obeyed because they refuse to obey. These people need to be reminded of the punishment that is prepared for the disobedient. 2 Thess. 1:7-10. Still others have not obeyed these commands because they are just indifferent. They just do not care. How can we be indifferent about Heaven and Hell? How can we be indifferent about eternal death?

The fund - raising committee of Gustav Bendheim Lodge 812, B'nai B'rith, is planning fund - raising projects to meet its $845 commitment to the B'nai B'rith youth and defense agencies. The local group is an affiliate of the international Jewish service organization.

The largest item in the 1967 international budget is $5,476,169 for the specialized youth programs, an increase of more than $680,000 over 1966 expenditures for its 50,000-member teenage youth activities, for B'nai B'rith Hillel Foundations on more than 265 college campuses here and abroad, and for vocational counseling services maintained in 23 metropolitan areas.

An Experiment in Religion

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

We met a chemist some years ago who was planning to experiment with religion.

"Some Sunday," he said, "I'm going to go to Church and see if it makes any difference in my life."

"Doctor," we asked, "How does a chemist begin his experiments in a new field?"

"With research," came the reply. "He studies the findings of other men in that field—determines what has been proven—what is unknown."

"That's a good way to begin your experiment with religion," we suggested. "It would hardly be 'scientific' to judge Christianity, or your need for it, on the basis of one visit to Church. But a few months of faithful attendance, and many thoughtful evenings with the Bible will give you a clear understanding of what others have found in Christianity. You'll discover spiritual truths which centuries of experience have proven, and gain a faith that can bridge the Unknown."

At last report, our chemist was making fine progress in his experiment. In fact, he no longer thinks of his religion as experimental!

An Experiment in Religion

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

We met a chemist some years ago who was planning to experiment with religion.

"Some Sunday," he said, "I'm going to go to Church and see if it makes any difference in my life."

"Doctor," we asked, "How does a chemist begin his experiments in a new field?"

"With research," came the reply. "He studies the findings of other men in that field—determines what has been proven—what is unknown."

"That's a good way to begin your experiment with religion," we suggested. "It would hardly be 'scientific' to judge Christianity, or your need for it, on the basis of one visit to Church. But a few months of faithful attendance, and many thoughtful evenings with the Bible will give you a clear understanding of what others have found in Christianity. You'll discover spiritual truths which centuries of experience have proven, and gain a faith that can bridge the Unknown."

At last report, our chemist was making fine progress in his experiment. In fact, he no longer thinks of his religion as experimental!

West Fork of Beaver Creek was diverted to Route 30 for new double bridge of Route 11 extension to West Point area.

Completed end of Freeway stretches north of Route 2[illegible].

Road Project Rolls

Photographs By Robert Duffy

The moving of 2 million yards of soil continues day and night south of West Point where contractor's crews are constructing a 4.1-mile extension of Route 11.

Footers and columns have already been started for a double bridge which will carry the four-lane section not only over present Route 30 but across Beaver Cheek which has been diverted.

The $3,698,000 project extends from Route 267 — where the Freeway now ends — to the West Point area where Route 45 will be tied in with a new interchange.

The Carl Guepel Construction Co. of Indianapolis began work on Jan. 19, and is scheduled to complete the project by July 31, 1969.

Besides the double span over Route 30, two other pairs of bridges are to be erected — one over Township Road 904 and another over the Y. & O. Rd.

The total length of roadway involved will be 8.6 miles, including the freeway, ramps and parts of relocated roads. Work is about 60 per cent complete, highway officials estimated.

Crews are working two shifts daily, not to expedite the project but as part of the original planning of the firm, it was explained. The steady labor and movement of earth prevents the soil freezing in cold weather — which would delay the project — and provides for more efficient use of equipment than letting it be idle for 16 hours a day.

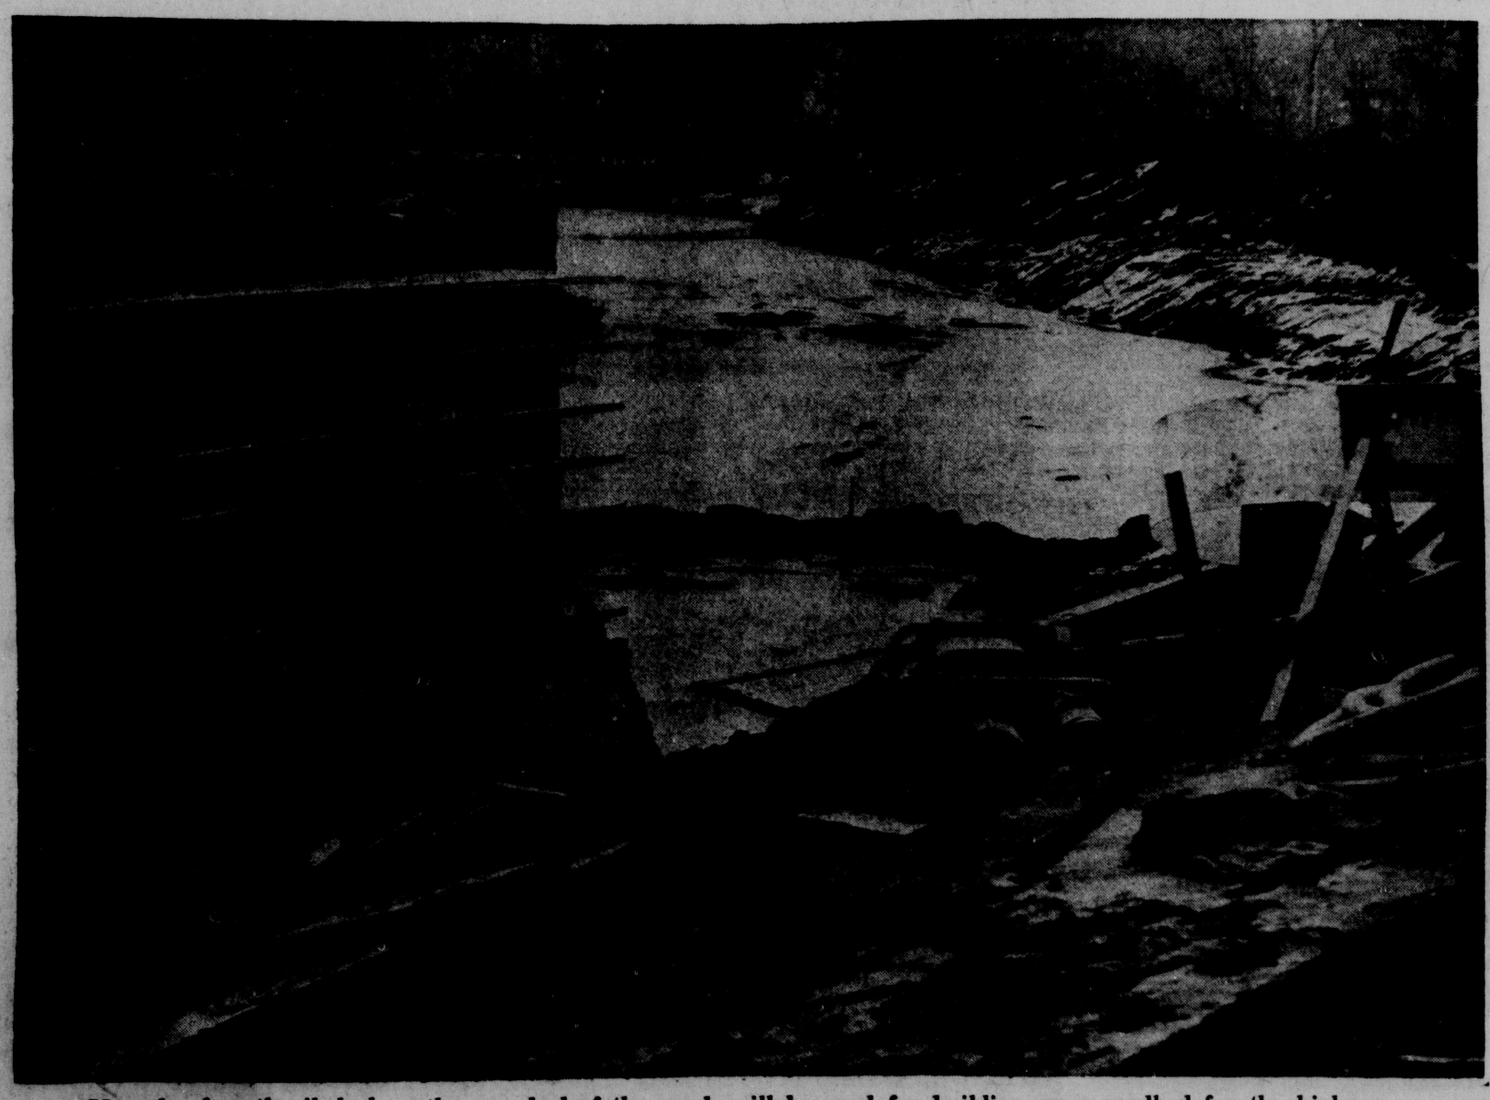
The former low-lying flatland south of West Point is now unrecognizable, with the onetime Terry's Lake gone, the creek course changed to bring it closer to Route 30 for the bridging, and huge mounds of earth piled up to provide the fill for the bridge approaches and roadbed.

Huge earth hauler carries load of muddy earth across Route 11 construction site.



Mounds of earth piled along the new bed of the creek will be used for building up a roadbed for the highway.

Outdoor Notes

By HARRY STEWART
Review Staff Member

WINTER USUALLY IS MORE DIFFICULT for humans than it is for members of the animal kingdom. Man, with all his modern conveniences and abundance of food, seems to be troubled continually by the elements.

Animals and birds do not find it as easy going in the winter as in the summer, but, overall, their struggle is not too great.

There is one exception. When the weather becomes extremely severe, much of the birdlife suffers. It becomes difficult for them to obtain food and water.

The winter feeding of birds is the hobby of many. Others have expressed interest in how it should be done.

In answer to this, the following article was prepared by E. R. (Pete) Chandler of Chester, area naturalist and bird watcher.

IT IS NOT too late to start winter feeding of birds, particularly since the ground is not frozen hard. It is better to start before the first snowfall but often that is a reminder to get started.

A bird feeding program need not be elaborate — the porch will do, a window ledge or even the ground outside the back door.

A feeding tray can be a simple board fastened to a window ledge or on a post. It should have a raised edge — a strip of wood to retain feed. Later on you may wish to cover the tray or buy one, but they can be quite simple in construction. Feeding trays should be in a protected area but not where it will be easily accessible to cats or squirrels.

You can begin by feeding bread crumbs or similar food. This will probably attract house sparrows and starlings, but this is good since it will lead other birds to the spot. Mixed bird feed can be bought. Many of the sparrow tripe, song, field and tree sparrows, like medium chick feed. Cardinals, titmice, chickadees, jays, nuthatches and some of the rarer birds go for sunflower seeds. Thus a mixture of sunflower seeds and chick feed will bring variety. An ear of corn hung up by a string or stuck on a nail also will attract cardinals.

FOR THOSE birds that feed on grubs and worms, suet and peanut butter is best. This can be put in a cage-like holder made of hardware cloth or a soap dish fastened to a tree with wire, not nailed. The woodpeckers, brown creepers, nuthatches, chickadees and starlings like the suet type food. Surplus kitchen fat, bacon grease, etc. can be poured into wax paper cups and hung on branches with string. A feeding stick can be bought or made by boring 1 or 1½ inch holes in a stick of wood, filled with peanut butter or suet and hung up near a bush.

Birds will eat a wide variety of food. Table scraps — such as bread, pie crusts, etc. provide salt which they need. Some of them like raisins, bits of fruit and even jelly beans, and any kind of nuts. They also need gravel and water. You may have fine gravel on the edges of your driveway or along the side of the road, if not or if it is covered with ice and snow some fine chicken grit or ground slag spread around helps.

If you are located near the river or a small flowing spring or streams, the birds can get needed water. If you are some distance from these sources you may wish to provide warm water once or twice a day during cold spells.

You will find that feeding wild birds is interesting and entertaining, although at times it becomes a chore. Once started it should not be discontinued until warm weather returns, because they become dependent on you. Birds can withstand extreme cold as long as they have food and shelter. In the end the birds will repay you by keeping the insects around your home in check when good weather returns.

PENNSYLVANIA'S BUCK season will end at sunset today and the regular statewide antlerless deer season will be held next Monday, Tuesday and Saturday.

Early indications are that hunters so far this season have been taking deer at a record rate. The all-time record for bucks harvested in a year was 1965, when hunters reported tagging 65,150 antlered deer. Last year hunters reported bagging 58,722 bucks.

Field reports indicate that hunters are seeing plenty of whitetails, and indications are that there could also be a large antlerless deer harvest next week. Antlerless deer hunters are encouraged to take whitetails from farm areas where deer damage to crops has been occurring. This type of hunting is often mutually beneficial: reduction of the herd lowers crop damage, and hunters are often rewarded with heavier whitetails.

ONLY HUNTERS who possess antlerless deer licenses and who have not taken a whitetail in the state during the current license year will be permitted to hunt during the three-day antlerless season. Antlerless licenses are valid only in the county in which they were issued, and are not transferable.

A dozen or more trophy bucks believed to be big enough for entry in the Boone and Crockett record book were examined at the four deer checking stations during the first week.

The Boone and Crockett Club is the internationally-recognized organization which compiles official records of North American big game trophies.

About 4,000 bucks were examined and a large number of fine specimens turned up. Many whitetails could not be examined because the jaws were frozen shut.

The largest deer checked was a 188-pounder taken in Susquehanna County. Westmoreland County also produced several deer weighing over 180 pounds, and a 13-year-old Sandy Lake youth, Mark B. Voorhees, tagged a 12-point, 4½-year-old trophy which weighed 180 pounds. The big buck was taken in Venango County.

COLUMBIANA COUNTY'S official deer kill during Ohio's season last week was 11.

Ralph Drake, county game protector, says most had nice racks. One hunter was charged with using a high powered rifle — illegal in Ohio — and was fined in court.

TOO CLOSE TO BE SAFE. Mrs. George Eells of the Lisbon-Elkton Rd. heard someone shooting very near her home Thursday afternoon. Concerned for the safety of her children, she checked, but could find no one.

Mrs. Eells went back inside and a few minutes later heard more shooting, followed by a loud crash in the kitchen.

On the floor was a dead grouse. It apparently had been flushed by the hunter, who quickly departed the scene, and flew through the pane of glass.

Is it any wonder that some landowners do not permit hunting and other individuals clamor for gun control?

GROUSE HUNTERS TAKE NOTE! The Ohio Wildlife Division has arranged for a public grouse hunting field day next Saturday.

Those interested are to meet at the Highlandtown Wildlife headquarters between 7:30 and 8 a.m.

The hunt will be conducted at the Brush Creek Wildlife Area and Yellow Creek State Forest.

Guides will be provided for each four hunters. Anyone with a bird dog can take it along.

School Who's Who

JUDY KEMENY
Wellsville High Senior

Future study in mathematics or related areas of chemistry and physics at Oberlin College is planned by Judy Kemeny, Wellsville High School senior, who has maintained a 4-point average in her college preparatory course.

Judy is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. George O. Kemeny of 716 Main St., Wellsville. She entered high school when she was 12 years old, and, during the summer of 1966, earned an "A" in college level analytical geometry and calculus at Western Reserve University. She is a member of the National Honor Society and a three-year Jaycee Scholastic Awards winner.

Judy participated in the class play during her junior year. She is treasurer of Y-Teens and a member of the school newspaper.

We just love Christmas shopping because it gives us a chance to meet students from all the area high schools. With arms full of packages, ruddy complexions and snow up to here, we've heard all sorts of things are happening in hallowed high school halls.

AT WELLSVILLE — Remember the song that says, "Crying time again . . .? Well, that's what it is at Wellsville High School where students, usually reluctant to report to homeroom, are really fighting it. It's time for report cards to be issued. Ah, cut it out, group; it CAN'T be that bad! . . . VD OUTBREAK? — Don't be alarmed if you see "VD" enscribed on various items in the Physical Ed. Department — volley balls, basketballs and everything . . . Just see the person responsible, Miss Vera Delaney, gym teacher . . . PEP SKITS — The cheerleaders of Wellsville High have decided to go into show business, directing their own "hits," starring Tigerman! You know, it would be interesting to see the Wellsville cheerleaders and Tigerman compete with the East Liverpool cheerleaders and Potter Pete! . . . Y-TEENS INITIATED — The initiates of the Y-Teens were inducted Monday night into this "elite" organization. Following the ceremony, the club immediately began making plans for the rest of the year. As an added attraction, the girls were entertained by the talent of five Junior Miss candidates from the area: Alex Cycyn, Barbara Batey and Frances Hoon of East Liverpool and Nancy Fraser and Nicki Randolph of Southern Local. With programs like that, who needs projects!

FOOD DRIVE TO BEGIN — The East Liverpool High School National Honor Society, led by Bridget Tobin, will sponsor an annual Food Drive from Monday through Friday. Students may bring the cans of food to their homerooms and put monetary donations in the cartons provided. Clubs are urged to contribute to the project for the needy. Mrs. Edna Jones, school nurse, will distribute the food . . . ROVING WRESTLERS — Wrestlers have begun their training for the upcoming meets with area schools. For three hours after school each day, they do warm-up exercises in the girls gymnasium (enough to raise temperatures, right gang). And conditioning routines, and every now-and-then, they do a little wrestling. Dan Skidmore had the doubtful honor of being the first casualty when he got his lip cut as a "stray" knee slammed into him. He's the nicest, fat-lipped clarinet player we know . . . KEEP THE BALL ROLLING — The Potters opened their season last night in a game against Bellaire. Tonight they meet Pittsburgh Westinghouse. Did you notice the group of energetic basketball bunnies who were determined to cheer the team to victory? The girls are known as the "Pep Club," made up of about 40. Blue and white outfits, accented with flamboyant pompoms and other regalia to spur the Potters on, are the "battle" gear of the group. Milley Carter gets a doff of the hat for starting it.

AMERICAN HOMEMAKERS — All senior girls at Beaver Local High School took a Betty Crocker Homemaker of America test Tuesday. Designed to gauge common sense and general knowledge, the test offers the national winner a $5,000 scholarship. The state winner will receive $1,500 and the runner-up, on the state level, will get $500 . . . SPIRIT STICK STRIKES AGAIN! — The spirit stick, which showed up at South Side High School in early November, has come to the fore at this school too. The cheerleaders, at a camp this summer, won the stick for the most spirited display of any squad present. To encourage school spirit, the stick is being awarded each week to the class that yells the loudest at pep rallies . . . SIGLER IS "FAVORITE SON" — Mike Sigler was elected president of the Beaver Local Band this week. The other officers are Robert Morris, vice president; Sandy Garey, secretary; and Scott Dray, treasurer . . . Y'ALL COME! — Yes, everybody from all the high schools are invited to attend a dance tonight after the basketball game at Beaver Local. The "Young Generations" will perform, Patty Entriken, president of the Y-Teens, said.

DO IT, DOAK! — Sandy Doak, Younger Set correspondent, has been awarded the lead role in "Meet Me in St. Louis," the South Side High School class play. She will portray Rose Smith. Other cast members are Barbara Barrett, Carla Falk, Lois Whitehill, Judy Stewart and Vince Nola. The production will be presented in January. "Life is but a stage . . .," right gang? . . . BLUE JEANS UNDER GYM SHORTS? — Ah, come on now fellas! The poor, mistreated wrestlers (since the basketball team has the gym) have to use the hallways and stairways for workouts after school. If you see one of the misfortunate "herd" running around in blue jeans under gym shorts, don't try to stop him. . . . CURE HIM OR KILL US — Is Greg Trimble trying to sponsor a private "Clash Day?" Can't help but wonder when he wears one black sock and leather shoe and one white sock and a slipper. Is his foot REALLY infected — or is he punishing us for something? . . . GANGWAY — Susie Stewart, editor of the South Side yearbook, has been kept busy trying to publish a yearbook for the eager, waiting students. With the help of three typists and numerous other staff members, she has collected the club news and the underclassmen's photos have been taken. Now it's all systems "GO!"

IT'S GOING TO RAIN "MERRY CHRISTMAS" IN VIETNAM — A "shower" of Christmas greetings is going to be sent by Lincoln High School students to area men serving in Vietnam. We're sure they'll appreciate a "monsoon" of good wishes! . . . LHS CAN-CAN — Canned goods are also being smuggled into homerooms where beautifully decorated baskets are waiting. The goodies will be taken to the Beaver County Children's Home . . . SPANISH OUSTED BY FRENCH — The French class has overrun the bulletin board, previously staked out by the Spanish class. They will enforce "squatters rights" until another "battle of the board" ensues . . . WHERE'S THAT XMAS MUSIC COMING FROM? — It's the senior choir, under the direction of C. Lloyd Deffenbaugh! The group can be found — both at noon and after school in the auditorium — preparing for the annual program for the high school and grade school Dec. 15. The public concert will be Dec. 17 . . . BAND WILL NAME ROYALTY — A king and queen will be named at the Christmas band dance Dec. 27 in the forum. The affair is for those hard-working members and their guests.

SOUTHERN SOCK HOP — Southern Local will hold its first "victory" bsaketball sock-hop after the game tonight with Springfield Local . . . THREE, and WE'RE OUT? — Report cards were issued (do we need to remind you) Wednesday for the second time . . . GLUM GYM CLASS — Well, so much for wrestling in gym class. The sport was removed from the rigors of gym class when one of our basketball players dislocated his shoulder . . . STAGE, NOT SHELF, FOR KNICK-KNACKS — Another musical group has evolved in Southern's halls! The group, "The Knick-Knacks," consists of Nicki Randolph, senior, guitar; Sandi Maher, junior, guitar; and Diane Adams, senior, lead singer.

MUGGED AT WESTERN BEAVER — The Art Club, under the sponsorship of art instructor Donald Nelson, is selling ceramic mugs with the school seal on it. Request your graduating year on it, too! . . . "IT'S IN THE BAG!" — The Home Economics Department has a cookie tree in the room. Everyone who makes cookies seals some in "Baggies" and helps decorate the tree. Now WHO is going to get that tree? . . . WE'RE GREAT & MODEST — At an assembly this week, Western Beaver High School was awarded the Mid-Western Athletic Trophy for football . . . 2,000 MILES BY CHRISTMAS — The new driver training auto, bought in October, will have logged 2,000 miles by Christmas Vacation, William Palumbo, instructor, said . . . "WINTER FROLIC" SPONSORED BY SOPH SWEETS — The sophomore class is conducting a candy sale to raise money for the "Winter Frolic," a dance which is second to none but the Junior-Senior prom. The dance will be held Dec. 16 in the cafetorium. The dance is semi-formal, Chester Bonner, science teacher and soph class sponsor, said.

EXCUSES, EXCUSES — The senior class members at East Palestine High School were excused from class Monday to order their graduation name cards and announcements. The senior photos are finished and are available at Davis' Studio . . . BOOSTER BADGES — Back the Bulldogs by buying a "giant" size badge enscribed, "You Can't Stop the Bulldogs!" The girl boosters are selling the hexagon-shaped emblems . . . WATCH US WEDNESDAY! — The Tri-Hi-Y Girls will begin their 1967-68 basketball league at Columbiana High School with five teams representing East Palestine Wednesday.

The Lighter Side

By ROBERT POPP

(Here is the remainder to the Lighter Side column which ended abruptly without a "Concluded Next Week" line in last Saturday's feature pages.

The story dealt with the introduction of a new product called Atomic Gems being prepared for the retail market for Great American Soap Products, Inc., by the advertising firm of Weasel, Wiggle, Wail and Dodge.

J. Fulbright Weasel, senior partner in the advertising firm, explained the ballyhoo program to G.A.S.P. executives, including George Washington Humus. As Weasel finished a young fellow in a shoddy blue suit entered and placed a message at the elbow of George Washington Humus.)

"Can-Can ran out in the third at Belmont," the message read. "Come up with more scratch." It was signed "Charlie."

WITH THE AIR of King John about to sign the Magna Charta, Humus flipped over the note and wrote: "One more bum steer and I take my business to the other candy store." Then he handed the note to the messenger.

Meanwhile, the young man had been regarding the package with the air of one permitted to look upon the Crown Jewels of Great Britain for the first time.

"It looks like a nice package of breakfast food," he whispered to Humus. "But isn't it a little gaudy?"

"It's not cereal, it's soap," Humus replied in a whisper as though conveying a state secret. "Now get down to the corner with that message."

The anonymous young man raised his voice for the first time.

"Why not a plain white box with the word 'Soap' in big black letters?" he said. "That way you wouldn't have to read all the guff on the package to make certain you were getting detergent and not dahlia bulbs or fly paper."

Weasel smiled tolerantly, not knowing for certain the anonymous young man's position in the firm. He might be an eccentric cousin, Weasel reminded himself.

But the young man made his exit and the whole episode seemed forgotten.

"Go ahead with the test marketing," Humus told Weasel. "But I don't want to spend more than $20 million introducing an untried product. Now, excuse me please. I have an important call to make."

He dialed his bookie to get the results on the fourth at Belmont.

THIRTY DAYS later, Weasel reported to Humus with charts and graphs to analyze the results of the first day's test marketing.

"Atomic Gems sold out in seven of the 10 supermarkets," he told Humus with a wide smile. "The investment to date is $18.8 million, including almost $17 million we spent on the sterling silver tableware that went with each package.

"We sold 27,498 packages of Atomic Gems in the first 24 hours. It was the biggest thing to hit Albany since the departure of Thomas E. Dewey. To be fair, I must add that 23,487 packags of Atomic Gems were recovered by our researchers at spots where they had been tossed out of car windows along the freeways or ditched in garbage cans. So obviously, some of the purchasers bought the 79-cent box of soap to get the $89.50 set of silver tableware. But we're on the right track. We have a winner!"

But it was obvious that he had an appendix to his report, a confidential aside for the president.

"Just for the heck of it, we had the packaging people prepare a big supply of cartons with the wording suggested by your office boy—'Soap' in big black letters on a plain white background," Weasel confided. "Underneath, in much smaller type, we had the legend: "As Good As Anything Else For Laundry and Dishes."

"We picked the prospering little community of Stoved Elbow, Nebraska, for the test market. We sneaked in 30,000 packages of 'Soap' in the middle of the night and stocked it in a supermarket and two general stores.

"All 30,000 packages were sold in the first 14 hours. I think people must have thought it was a joke, like bourbon-flavored toothpaste or electric toilet paper. The supply is exhausted now and we've forgotten our little peccadillo.

"Next week we will begin to push Atomic Gems nationally with a $50 million advertising budget and a 21-jewel wristwatch as a premium. It's a real winner!"

Outdoor Notes

WINTER USUALLY IS MORE DIFFICULT for humans than it is for members of the animal kingdom. Man, with all his modern conveniences and abundance of food, seems to be troubled continually by the elements.

Animals and birds do not find it as easy going in the winter as in the summer, but, overall, their struggle is not too great.

There is one exception. When the weather becomes extremely severe, much of the birdlife suffers. It becomes difficult for them to obtain food and water.

The winter feeding of birds is the hobby of many. Others have expressed interest in how it should be done.

In answer to this, the following article was prepared by E. R. (Pete) Chandler of Chester, area naturalist and bird watcher.

IT IS NOT too late to start winter feeding of birds, particularly since the ground is not frozen hard. It is better to start before the first snowfall but often that is a reminder to get started.

A bird feeding program need not be elaborate — the porch will do, a window ledge or even the ground outside the back door.

A feeding tray can be a simple board fastened to a window ledge or on a post. It should have a raised edge — a strip of wood to retain feed. Later on you may wish to cover the tray or buy one, but they can be quite simple in construction. Feeding trays should be in a protected area but not where it will be easily accessible to cats or squirrels.

You can begin by feeding bread crumbs or similar food. This will probably attract house sparrows and starlings, but this is good since it will lead other birds to the spot. Mixed bird feed can be bought. Many of the sparrow tripe, song, field and tree sparrows, like medium chick feed. Cardinals, titmice, chickadees, jays, nuthatches and some of the rarer birds go for sunflower seeds. Thus a mixture of sunflower seeds and chick feed will bring variety. An ear of corn hung up by a string or stuck on a nail also will attract cardinals.

FOR THOSE birds that feed on grubs and worms, suet and peanut butter is best. This can be put in a cage-like holder made of hardware cloth or a soap dish fastened to a tree with wire, not nailed. The woodpeckers, brown creepers, nuthatches, chickadees and starlings like the suet type food. Surplus kitchen fat, bacon grease, etc. can be poured into wax paper cups and hung on branches with string. A feeding stick can be bought or made by boring 1 or 1½ inch holes in a stick of wood, filled with peanut butter or suet and hung up near a bush.

Birds will eat a wide variety of food. Table scraps — such as bread, pie crusts, etc. provide salt which they need. Some of them like raisins, bits of fruit and even jelly beans, and any kind of nuts. They also need gravel and water. You may have fine gravel on the edges of your driveway or along the side of the road, if not or if it is covered with ice and snow some fine chicken grit or ground slag spread around helps.

If you are located near the river or a small flowing spring or streams, the birds can get needed water. If you are some distance from these sources you may wish to provide warm water once or twice a day during cold spells.

You will find that feeding wild birds is interesting and entertaining, although at times it becomes a chore. Once started it should not be discontinued until warm weather returns, because they become dependent on you. Birds can withstand extreme cold as long as they have food and shelter. In the end the birds will repay you by keeping the insects around your home in check when good weather returns.

PENNSYLVANIA'S BUCK season will end at sunset today and the regular statewide antlerless deer season will be held next Monday, Tuesday and Saturday.

Early indications are that hunters so far this season have been taking deer at a record rate. The all-time record for bucks harvested in a year was 1965, when hunters reported tagging 65,150 antlered deer. Last year hunters reported bagging 58,722 bucks.

Field reports indicate that hunters are seeing plenty of whitetails, and indications are that there could also be a large antlerless deer harvest next week. Antlerless deer hunters are encouraged to take whitetails from farm areas where deer damage to crops has been occurring. This type of hunting is often mutually beneficial: reduction of the herd lowers crop damage, and hunters are often rewarded with heavier whitetails.

ONLY HUNTERS who possess antlerless deer licenses and who have not taken a whitetail in the state during the current license year will be permitted to hunt during the three-day antlerless season. Antlerless licenses are valid only in the county in which they were issued, and are not transferable.

A dozen or more trophy bucks believed to be big enough for entry in the Boone and Crockett record book were examined at the four deer checking stations during the first week.

The Boone and Crockett Club is the internationally-recognized organization which compiles official records of North American big game trophies.

About 4,000 bucks were examined and a large number of fine specimens turned up. Many whitetails could not be examined because the jaws were frozen shut.

The largest deer checked was a 188-pounder taken in Susquehanna County. Westmoreland County also produced several deer weighing over 180 pounds, and a 13-year-old Sandy Lake youth, Mark B. Voorhees, tagged a 12-point, 4½-year-old trophy which weighed 180 pounds. The big buck was taken in Venango County.

COLUMBIANA COUNTY'S official deer kill during Ohio's season last week was 11.

Ralph Drake, county game protector, says most had nice racks. One hunter was charged with using a high powered rifle — illegal in Ohio — and was fined in court.

TOO CLOSE TO BE SAFE. Mrs. George Eells of the Lisbon-Elkton Rd. heard someone shooting very near her home Thursday afternoon. Concerned for the safety of her children, she checked, but could find no one.

Mrs. Eells went back inside and a few minutes later heard more shooting, followed by a loud crash in the kitchen.

On the floor was a dead grouse. It apparently had been flushed by the hunter, who quickly departed the scene, and flew through the pane of glass.

Is it any wonder that some landowners do not permit hunting and other individuals clamor for gun control?

Arab Nations Begin Parley

CAIRO (AP) — Arab foreign ministers gathered today to start charting a common course on how to oust Israel from Sinai, the west bank of the Jordan River and the Syrian heights, all captured in the six-day June war.

In their three-day parley the ministers were to fix the date and agenda for the Arab summit conference later this month at Rabat, Morocco, and possibly start deciding how to deal with U.N. peacemaker Gunnar Jarring.

The Swedish diplomat leaves today from the United Nations to set up his headquarters on Cyprus, where he was expected to arrive Sunday. He has a mandate under a Security Council resolution to make the rounds of disputants in the June war in an effort to settle the Arab-Israeli conflict.

The resolution, submitted by Britain and approved unanimously by the 15 council members, calls for eventual withdrawal of Israeli forces from Arab soi and an end to the state of belligerency.

Audit Analyzes Costs For Welfare Division

LISBON — The Columbiana County foster home program operated by the Child Welfare Division of the Welfare Department cost $62,789 in 1965—the last full year covered in the report of State Examiner Robert H. Hookey.

The county places children in its care in foster homes where they can experience normal family relationships.

Foster parents were paid $50 per month per child for care and services as of the closing date of the audit period—March 10, 1963, through March 31, 1966. These payments totaled $62,789 in 1965.

—:—

CHILD welfare services are administered by the Welfare Department, with the director serving as executive secretary.

Hookey said parents or guardians of childrren in the foster home program paid $14,557 to the Child Welfare Department for their support in 1965.

A 55-100ths of a mill levy renewed for five years in 1963 provides for current expenses of the child welfare program. It brought in $134,447 in 1965. Total receipts of the child welfare special fund in 1965 were $181,000, compared with disbursements of $136,948.

The only error found in the child welfare cash book was a $3 deficit due to a voided check and a posting error. The adjustments were made by the bookkeeper in November 1966.

The Child Welfare Department was also in charge of the retarded children's school and training program during the audit period. A 2-10ths of a mill levy approved by voters in May 1962, and renewed for five years in 1965, provides for current expenses of the school and training program for the retarded.

—:—

AN ANALYSIS of this fund for the last full year of the audit (1965)) shows a 1964 balance of $28,598, receipts of $47,589, tax levy; $15,467, state subsidy; $39.52 refunds, and $11,484 in tuition — a total of $103,178.

Disbursements were $74,183, including $48,740, salaries of employes; $7,274, transportation; $1,342, supplies and maintenance; $1,153, utilities; $338, other expenses; $3,403, retirement; $405, workmen's compensation, and $10,407, equipment.

A special retarded children's checking account is maintained to handle money donated by various individuals and organizations for the benefit of retarded school children. The money has been used to furnish special workshop supplies and also to purchase Christmas gifts for the children. Receipts were $32,902 in 1965 and expenses were $31,663.

The retarded children's school at Elkton is the property of the Beaver Local Board of Education, which has permitted the Child Welfare Department to use it without charge. The county pays the cost of utilities and maintenance.

—:—

DURING THE audit period, the department rented additional classrooms at 134 S. Market St., Lisbon, at $45 a month, and a workshop at 136 S. Market St. at $75 a month.

The sheltered workshop, which began operations Sept. 1, 1964, is a non-profit organization with a program of rehabilitation for individuals whose capacity has been impaired because of mental retardation.

The workshop is self supporting except for the instructor, who is paid by the welfare department. Individuals who work in the workshop are paid $15 a month out of the funds donated to the organization. Donations and sales from Sept. 1, 1964, until the end of the examination period amounted to $8,895, compared with expenses of $8,177.

Copies of the Child Welfare Department examination report are available for public inspection at the offices of the auditor and prosecuting attorney in the Courthouse.

U.S. Agrees To Sale Plan For Thomson

CLEVELAND (AP)—The federal government and Thomson Newspapers, Inc. agreed today to a stipulation that would require Thomson to sell the Alliance Review within a year to someone approved by the Department of Justice and the U.S. District Court.

The U.S. Antitrust Division of the Justice Department had challenged Thomson's impending acquisition of the Brush-Moore newspaper chain because of the impact it would have on competition in Stark County, Ohio.

Thomson now owns the Alliance Review, the county's third largest paper with a circulation of 15,075, and Brush-Moore owns the Canton Repository, the county's largest daily, with 72,852 circulation, the government stated. The third Stark County daily, the Evening Independent of Massillon, is not involved.

Thompson's acquisition of Brush Moore's 13 daily and eight Sunday newspapers, announced last August 24, is scheduled to be completed next Monday, the government said.

The proposed consent judgment in the civil antitrust suit, filed simultaneously today with the government's challenge to the Brush-Moore acquisition, requires Thomson to sell the Alliance Review "in such a manner as to enable the purchaser to continue operation of the Alliance Publishing Co. on terms and conditions approved by the court."

The consent judgment is to become final in 30 days, and sale of the Review is to take place within a year from then.

The action was taken in the court of Judge Girard E. Kalbfleisch.

Winter and Your Septic Tank

Unlike humans, who heat their homes in winter, or even animals who have hairy bodies to keep them warm, the poor little bacteria in septic tanks and waste disposal systems have no protection against those harsh winter months ahead.

Since a temperature drop of only a few degrees will kill billions of these hard working microbes, the reduced bacteria population becomes incapable of disposing of the waste which enters such systems, resulting in clogged and unsanitary conditions.

These bacteria, mainly the colon-type, are produced in the human body at a temperature of 98.6° F., and lose their ability to produce their own enzymes for solids liquification as the temperature drops, literally starving to death. Quoting from SEWERAGE and SEWAGE TREATMENT: (1)

"Temperature of sludge digestion — the most practical optimum known as the Mesophilic Range, is between 80° F. and 90° F., preferably about 85° F. As the temperature drops, bacterial action diminishes almost in proportion until at about 50° F. It practically ceases." Naturally, since the temperatures in unheated sewage systems average between 50° F. and 60° F. in winter, it may readily be seen that trouble can be expected.

How Sea-Cal Enzymes Help

Enzymes are not as susceptible to low temperatures as are bacteria, and it has been proven that their liquifying ability continues as low as 35° F. Therefore SEA-CAL takes over the reduction of the solids, producing food in AVAILABLE form for the reduced bacteria population, enabling them to continue their valuable work and to produce clear effluents for transmission to drainfields and cesspools.

Since SEA-CAL also contains strains of virile bacteria by the million per gram, fresh populations are added each time a treatment is made.

For only a few pennies per treatment, for the average home system, SEA-CAL insures year - round protection from costly service problems, and unsanitary conditions.

USE SEA-CAL ENZYMES REGULARLY ALL YEAR, INCREASING DOSES IN WINTER.

County Pays $650 For Aid In Gun Case

LISBON — Columbiana County paid Sheriff George Sigler of Lawrence County, Pa., $650.47 Thursday for holding and returning James E. Black, 32, of New Castile, a "fugitive from justice."

Black and James T. Martin, 31, of Poland were indicted by the September grand jury on a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon on a Leetonia priest.

The pair and the Rev. Fr. Thomas Beldue allegedly exchanged gunfire the night of Sept. 3 in the rectory of St. Patrick's Catholic Church at Leetonia.

Attendants at St. Francis Hospital found Black critically wounded outside the emergency room door the same night.

Ballistics tests revealed bullets removed from Black, and from Martin later at a Youngstown hospital, where fired from the priest's .25-caliber pistol.

The Lawrence County charge for Black included $449.75 for hospital guard while he was at St. Francis. The other expense was for his transfer to and treatment at the hospital in Western State Penitentiary, Pittsburgh.

Black was turned over to Columbiana County last month, pleaded guilty to the indictment and asked for probation. He is free under $1,000 pending an investigation and report. Martin pleaded not guilty and is free under $5,000 bond.

Doctor Who Wasn't A Doctor Built Flourishing Practice

GROVETON, Tex. (AP) — Residents of this town of 1,300 have learned that the only doctor it ever had was really no doctor at all.

He was a former Louisiana convict who had successfully posed as a psychiatrist at a Texas state hospital, and as a doctor here he had been granted a medical license by the State of Texas.

Dist. Atty. Harold Hollingsworth said the man is Freddie Brant who used the name of a Chattanooga, Tenn., physician, Reed L. Brown.

Hollingsworth said Brant had worked at one time as a laboratory technician for Brown. Brant was charged with forgery and perjury in Kaufman County Friday. Bond was set at $25,000.

Brant was unable to post bond and remained in jail at Kaufman.

"Everybody in town practically worshipped him," said Mrs. William Bock, a licensed pharmacist, whose husband owns the only drug store in Groveton.

"I've filled prescriptions for a good many years and everything he prescribed seemed right to me," she said. "If there were ever any adverse reactions, I never knew about them."

P. M. Johnson, editor of the Groveton News, who said he was one of Brant's patients, added, "he sounded like he really knew what he was talking about."

"He knew about some medicines some of us had never even heard of," said a registered nurse at Trinity Memorial Hospital near Groveton.

Brant's medical practice ended when a Louisiana pharmaceutical company, patronized by both the Texas Dr. Brown and the Tennessee Dr. Brown, became suspicious why the real physician wanted his newest shipment of drugs sent to the Groveton Medical Clinic.

County Pays $650 For Aid In Gun Case

LISBON — Columbiana County paid Sheriff George Sigler of Lawrence County, Pa., $650.47 Thursday for holding and returning James E. Black, 32, of New Castle, a "fugitive from justice."

Black and James T. Martin, 31, of Poland were indicted by the September grand jury on a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon on a Leetonia priest.

The pair and the Rev. Fr. Thomas Beldue allegedly exchanged gunfire the night of Sept. 3 in the rectory of St. Patrick's Catholic Church at Leetonia.

Attendants at St. Francis Hospital found Black critically wounded outside the emergency room door the same night.

Ballistics tests revealed bullets removed from Black, and from Martin later at a Youngstown hospital, where fired from the priest's .25-caliber pistol.

The Lawrence County charge for Black included $449.75 for hospital guard while he was at St. Francis. The other expense was for his transfer to and treatment at the hospital in Western State Penitentiary, Pittsburgh.

Black was turned over to Columbiana County last month, pleaded guilty to the indictment and asked for probation. He is free under $1,000 pending an investigation and report. Martin pleaded not guilty and is free under $5,000 bond.

Audit Analyzes Costs For Welfare Division

LISBON — The Columbiana County foster home program operated by the Child Welfare Division of the Welfare Department cost $62,789 in 1965—the last full year covered in the report of State Examiner Robert H. Hookey.

The county places children in its care in foster homes where they can experience normal family relationships.

Foster parents were paid $50 per month per child for care and services as of the closing date of the audit period—March 10, 1963, through March 31, 1966. These payments totaled $62,789 in 1965.

—:—

CHILD welfare services are administered by the Welfare Department, with the director serving as executive secretary.

Hookey said parents or guardians of childrren in the foster home program paid $14,557 to the Child Welfare Department for their support in 1965.

A 55-100ths of a mill levy renewed for five years in 1963 provides for current expenses of the child welfare program. It brought in $134,447 in 1965. Total receipts of the child welfare special fund in 1965 were $181,000, compared with disbursements of $136,948.

The only error found in the child welfare cash book was a $3 deficit due to a voided check and a posting error. The adjustments were made by the bookkeeper in November 1966.

The Child Welfare Department was also in charge of the retarded children's school and training program during the audit period. A 2-10ths of a mill levy approved by voters in May 1962, and renewed for five years in 1965, provides for current expenses of the school and training program for the retarded.

—:—

AN ANALYSIS of this fund for the last full year of the audit (1965)) shows a 1964 balance of $28,598, receipts of $47,589, tax levy; $15,467, state subsidy; $39.52 refunds, and $11,484 in tuition — a total of $103,178.

Disbursements were $74,183, including $48,740, salaries of employes; $7,274, transportation; $1,342, supplies and maintenance; $1,153, utilities; $338, other expenses; $3,403, retirement; $405, workmen's compensation, and $10,407, equipment.

A special retarded children's checking account is maintained to handle money donated by various individuals and organizations for the benefit of retarded school children. The money has been used to furnish special workshop supplies and also to purchase Christmas gifts for the children. Receipts were $32,902 in 1965 and expenses were $31,663.

The retarded children's school at Elkton is the property of the Beaver Local Board of Education, which has permitted the Child Welfare Department to use it without charge. The county pays the cost of utilities and maintenance.

—:—

DURING THE audit period, the department rented additional classrooms at 134 S. Market St., Lisbon, at $45 a month, and a workshop at 136 S. Market St. at $75 a month.

The sheltered workshop, which began operations Sept. 1, 1964, is a non-profit organization with a program of rehabilitation for individuals whose capacity has been impaired because of mental retardation.

The workshop is self supporting except for the instructor, who is paid by the welfare department. Individuals who work in the workshop are paid $15 a month out of the funds donated to the organization. Donations and sales from Sept. 1, 1964, until the end of the examination period amounted to $8,895, compared with expenses of $8,177.

Copies of the Child Welfare Department examination report are available for public inspection at the offices of the auditor and prosecuting attorney in the Courthouse.

Doctor Who Wasn't A Doctor Built Flourishing Practice

GROVETON, Tex. (AP) — Residents of this town of 1,300 have learned that the only doctor it ever had was really no doctor at all.

He was a former Louisiana convict who had successfully posed as a psychiatrist at a Texas state hospital, and as a doctor here he had been granted a medical license by the State of Texas.

Dist. Atty. Harold Hollingsworth said the man is Freddie Brant who used the name of a Chattanooga, Tenn., physician, Reed L. Brown.

Hollingsworth said Brant had worked at one time as a laboratory technician for Brown. Brant was charged with forgery and perjury in Kaufman County Friday. Bond was set at $25,000.

Brant was unable to post bond and remained in jail at Kaufman.

"Everybody in town practically worshipped him," said Mrs. William Bock, a licensed pharmacist, whose husband owns the only drug store in Groveton.

"I've filled prescriptions for a good many years and everything he prescribed seemed right to me," she said. "If there were ever any adverse reactions, I never knew about them."

P. M. Johnson, editor of the Groveton News, who said he was one of Brant's patients, added, "he sounded like he really knew what he was talking about."

"He knew about some medicines some of us had never even heard of," said a registered nurse at Trinity Memorial Hospital near Groveton.

Brant's medical practice ended when a Louisiana pharmaceutical company, patronized by both the Texas Dr. Brown and the Tennessee Dr. Brown, became suspicious why the real physician wanted his newest shipment of drugs sent to the Groveton Medical Clinic.

Resident Of Alliance Convicted In Robbery

CLEVELAND (AP)— Marion Herndon, 30, of Alliance, was convicted by a federal jury Friday of robbing the Farmers' Savings and Trust Co. of Mansfield of $17,900 in July, 1966.

U.S. District Judge James C. Connell referred Herndon for a pre - sentence report. Herndon was arrested in Alliance March 1.

U.S. Agrees To Sale Plan For Thomson

CLEVELAND (AP)—The federal government and Thomson Newspapers, Inc. agreed today to a stipulation that would require Thomson to sell the Alliance Review within a year to someone approved by the Department of Justice and the U.S. District Court.

The U.S. Antitrust Division of the Justice Department had challenged Thomson's impending acquisition of the Brush-Moore newspaper chain because of the impact it would have on competition in Stark County, Ohio.

Thomson now owns the Alliance Review, the county's third largest paper with a circulation of 15,075, and Brush-Moore owns the Canton Repository, the county's largest daily, with 72,852 circulation, the government stated. The third Stark County daily, the Evening Independent of Massillon, is not involved.

Thompson's acquisition of Brush Moore's 13 daily and eight Sunday newspapers, announced last August 24, is scheduled to be completed next Monday, the government said.

The proposed consent judgment in the civil antitrust suit, filed simultaneously today with the government's challenge to the Brush-Moore acquisition, requires Thomson to sell the Alliance Review "in such a manner as to enable the purchaser to continue operation of the Alliance Publishing Co. on terms and conditions approved by the court."

The consent judgment is to become final in 30 days, and sale of the Review is to take place within a year from then.

The action was taken in the court of Judge Girard E. Kalbfleisch.

Winter and Your Septic Tank

Unlike humans, who heat their homes in winter, or even animals who have hairy bodies to keep them warm, the poor little bacteria in septic tanks and waste disposal systems have no protection against those harsh winter months ahead.

Since a temperature drop of only a few degrees will kill billions of these hard working microbes, the reduced bacteria population becomes incapable of disposing of the waste which enters such systems, resulting in clogged and unsanitary conditions.

These bacteria, mainly the colon-type, are produced in the human body at a temperature of 98.6° F., and lose their ability to produce their own enzymes for solids liquification as the temperature drops, literally starving to death. Quoting from SEWERAGE and SEWAGE TREATMENT: (1)

"Temperature of sludge digestion — the most practical optimum known as the Mesophilic Range, is between 80° F. and 90° F., preferably about 85° F. As the temperature drops, bacterial action diminishes almost in proportion until at about 50° F. It practically ceases." Naturally, since the temperatures in unheated sewage systems average between 50° F. and 60° F. in winter, it may readily be seen that trouble can be expected.

How Sea-Cal Enzymes Help

Enzymes are not as susceptible to low temperatures as are bacteria, and it has been proven that their liquifying ability continues as low as 35° F. Therefore SEA-CAL takes over the reduction of the solids, producing food in AVAILABLE form for the reduced bacteria population, enabling them to continue their valuable work and to produce clear effluents for transmission to drainfields and cesspools.

Since SEA-CAL also contains strains of virile bacteria by the million per gram, fresh populations are added each time a treatment is made.

For only a few pennies per treatment, for the average home system, SEA-CAL insures year - round protection from costly service problems, and unsanitary conditions.

USE SEA-CAL ENZYMES REGULARLY ALL YEAR, INCREASING DOSES IN WINTER.

Pearl Harbor 'Remembered' At Meeting Of Midland Club

"This is a moment of reflection 'lest we forget'," Henry L. Cannon, president, said when the Midland Lions Club held commemoration services on the anniversary of the bombing of Pearl Harbor Thursday night.

Speakers for the program at the Willows Motel were William Bratt of Wellsville and Carl Moldovan of New Brighton, members of the Association of the Defenders of Bataan and Corregidor, and Sgt. Richard Boring, Marine recruiter for Beaver County and a Vietnam combat veteran.

They received a standing ovation from the 32 Lions attending.

MOLDOVAN discussed his imprisonment folowing the four-month Bataan campaign. He was 19. Bratt was imprisoned following the fall of Corregidor. Both spent 3½ years in the same Japanese prison camp.

Moldovan told of witnessing 60 prisoners being beheaded in one afternoon and outlined the gross indignities, murders and atrocities by Japanese soldiers. He said he dropped from 200 pounds to 94 pounds during his confinement.

Both Moldovan and Bratt said the only thing that kept them alive was their faith in God. They recalled how the prisoners would attempt to hold religious services and would be mocked and killed by the guards.

Moldovan said, "I don't forget God today when I have a full belly, because He was with me during my time of need."

Both said the soldiers in Vietnam are in the same position they were at the outbreak of World War II. "Why we are over there has not changed in 26 years," they said. Both expressed the dismay they felt when the American flag was burned when the two islands fell. They said the sight would prohibit anyone from doing the same today.

The club went on record to back servicemen in Vietnam and oppose draft card and flag burners.

—:—

BRATT SAID the defeat at Bataan and Corregidor actually resulted from lack of ammunition, medicines and general supplies because the government was not aware of the urgency of battle.

The Japanese had planned to take the islands in one month, but the Americans and others withheld the onslaught for four months.

Bratt, his wife and son attended the rededication of the cemetery at Manila in April. He said 43,000 GI graves are at the location, with another 12,000 names inscribed on the wall. These bodies were never located.

Bratt screened slides and movies of the cemetery. He pointed out the association is comprised of 3,000 survivors of the campaigns. The organization was set up by Congress.

Sgt. Boring screened "Marines '65" showing the operations at Vietnam and Santa Domingo.

A Christmas party for children of members will be held Dec. 21 at 6:30 p. m. at the Willows. James Green, John Adams and Charles McNeillie, who will be in charge, said surprise entertainment will be provided.

Party Scheduled For 8th Graders At Beaver Local

Mrs. Delores Charlton and Mrs. Alice Diddle were appointed chairmen of a Beaver Local Public School eighth grade party Dec. 15 at a meeting of the Beaver Local Mothers Club Wednesday at the school.

The "Young Generations" will play for the event, which will include dancing and games. Reservations are to be made by Tuesday.

Mrs. Helen Kreps screened a film on Christmas in Italy. She was presented a gift by Mrs. Dorothy Roberts, program chairman.

Plans were made to buy drapes for the library and shrubbery for the school yard.

Mrs. Grace Diddle and Mrs. Pat Havice were named chairman of the ninth grade party to be held in the spring. Mrs. Janice Elles, devotion chairman, read the Christmas story from the Bible.

The refreshment table was set in a Christmas theme. A silver tea service was presided over by Mrs. Charlton, past president, and Mrs. Donna Ketchum. Name cards were small Santa Clauses, made by Mrs. Martha Reed, chairman, assisted by Mrs. Annabell White. Others aiding in the meeting were Mrs. Vera Dillion, Mrs. Cookie Pasco, Mrs. Ketchum.

Mrs. Delmar O'Hara will speak at a meeting Jan. 3 when hostesses will be Mrs. Carol Hoppel and Mrs. Kay Barker.

Group Will Hold Children's Party

Plans for a Christmas party for the children of members Dec. 21 were outlined during a meeting of the Midland Rotary Club Thursday night at the New Riviera Club.

The event will be at the Midland Knights of Columbus Hall at 6:30 p. m.

Dr. James Swinker, program chairman, introduced Frank Sayett, director of Raccoon State Park, who screened slides of park scenes.

The board meeting scheduled to follow the membership meeting was canceled. The Rev. Charles McClure of Midland will screen slides of his tour of Israel, Rome and Greece at the next meeting Thursday at 6:15 p.m.

David Schwerha will be program chairman.

Pearl Harbor 'Remembered' At Meeting Of Midland Club

"This is a moment of reflection 'lest we forget'," Henry L. Cannon, president, said when the Midland Lions Club held commemoration services on the anniversary of the bombing of Pearl Harbor Thursday night.

Speakers for the program at the Willows Motel were William Bratt of Wellsville and Carl Moldovan of New Brighton, members of the Association of the Defenders of Bataan and Corregidor, and Sgt. Richard Boring, Marine recruiter for Beaver County and a Vietnam combat veteran.

They received a standing ovation from the 32 Lions attending.

MOLDOVAN discussed his imprisonment folowing the four-month Bataan campaign. He was 19. Bratt was imprisoned following the fall of Corregidor. Both spent 3½ years in the same Japanese prison camp.

Moldovan told of witnessing 60 prisoners being beheaded in one afternoon and outlined the gross indignities, murders and atrocities by Japanese soldiers. He said he dropped from 200 pounds to 94 pounds during his confinement.

Both Moldovan and Bratt said the only thing that kept them alive was their faith in God. They recalled how the prisoners would attempt to hold religious services and would be mocked and killed by the guards.

Moldovan said, "I don't forget God today when I have a full belly, because He was with me during my time of need."

Both said the soldiers in Vietnam are in the same position they were at the outbreak of World War II. "Why we are over there has not changed in 26 years," they said. Both expressed the dismay they felt when the American flag was burned when the two islands fell. They said the sight would prohibit anyone from doing the same today.

The club went on record to back servicemen in Vietnam and oppose draft card and flag burners.

—:—

BRATT SAID the defeat at Bataan and Corregidor actually resulted from lack of ammunition, medicines and general supplies because the government was not aware of the urgency of battle.

The Japanese had planned to take the islands in one month, but the Americans and others withheld the onslaught for four months.

Bratt, his wife and son attended the rededication of the cemetery at Manila in April. He said 43,000 GI graves are at the location, with another 12,000 names inscribed on the wall. These bodies were never located.

Bratt screened slides and movies of the cemetery. He pointed out the association is comprised of 3,000 survivors of the campaigns. The organization was set up by Congress.

Sgt. Boring screened "Marines '65" showing the operations at Vietnam and Santa Domingo.

A Christmas party for children of members will be held Dec. 21 at 6:30 p. m. at the Willows. James Green, John Adams and Charles McNeillie, who will be in charge, said surprise entertainment will be provided.

Yesterday was Earl Diddle's birthday, but it was the Potter basketball team that got the present.

Diddle, along with Mitchell Jones, led East Liverpool to a 68-54 win over Bellaire St. John's at the M.A. Friday night. The game was the opener for the Potters, who host Pittsburgh Westinghouse tonight, while St. John's suffered its first loss after two wins.

For two boys who didn't score much last season, Diddle and Jones started off this year with a bang. Diddle had 17 points, 15 in the first half, and Jones had 20, 10 in each half. In addition, the 6-7 Jones pulled down 17 rebounds, blocked numerous shots and generally intimidated the shorter Irish in a fine defensive effort. Jones' 20 points were a varsity career high for him.

In addition, coach Clint McConnell, who was only moderately pleased with the game, had high praise for John Johnson, who had the unenviable task of guarding Allen Hornyak, who had dumped in 78 points in the first two games. Hornyak took game scoring honors with 25 points, but Johnson allowed him only 2 field goals in 10 shots, both on follow-ups. Hornyak and the entire Bellaire team were deadly from the foul line with Hornyak's 13 of 14 pacing a 22 for 26 night.

Johnson left the game in the third period when he picked up his fourth personal. He was replaced by Tom Chambers, who sparked the Potters. It was 42-36 when Chambers entered and the home team pulled steadily away from that point, with the biggest lead being 60-42.

McConnell had praise for Johnson, Chambers, Jones and Diddle and said the whole team hustled well. But he worried about the mistakes and thought that the team could play better. The Potters made 16 turnovers to 15 for the losers. The locals used a full-court press part of the time and a switching man-to-man.

Also hitting double figures for the home team were Rick Steffan with 13 and Jerry Christian with 10. John Coyne backed Hornyak with 16 points. The Potters won the battle of the boards, 45-36, but led only 32-30 in this department entering the last period. Hornyak and Martin Lucki had eight rebounds each to pace St. John's. Christian added 9 to Jones' 17 for the locals.

The first period was nip-and-tuck and ended tied at 16. Sy Kolesza's outfit took their biggest lead, 20-16, but then Diddle and Jones got to work in earnest. Diddle made a hook shot, and then a lay-up and was fouled. He missed the foul but Jones tipped it in for a four - point play. Diddle then made a driving hook shot from the right corner that brought the capacity crowd to its feet and he was fouled in the process. Once again he missed and Jones tipped in the rebound. Steffen scored to complete the run of 12 straight points that made it 28-20 and the Potters never trailed again.

It got as close as 32-30 shortly before halftime, but Diddle threw in another hook shot and Steffen made two fouls after the buzzer to make it 36-30. Steffen scored twice after steals early in the third period but St. John's kept pace until Chambers entered the game.

Leopards Trounced 74-47

By JOHN MUELLER

The Midland Leopards went down to their second defeat in four games at the hands of Bishop McCort's Crimson Crushers of Johnstown by a score of 74-47 at the Midland court last night.

The Leopards made a game of it for approximately four minutes of the opening quarter, then the Crushers slowly put the squeeze on them and it was no contest.

Joe Little sent the Crushers off to a 2-0 lead with a fielder at the 7:02 mark of the opening period. Bob Needa tied it for the Leopards at the 6:36 mark for the only tie of the game.

Jerry McDevitt's fielder at 5:59 sent the Crushers ahead to stay. Midland managed to stay close at 7-6 and again at 9-8 at the 4:38 mark, but from there on Bishop McCort pulled steadily away. The visitors moved out to a 21-12 lead at the end of the first period, then took a 46-23 lead to the dressing room at intermission.

Bishop McCort led 57-34 at the three-quarter mark then made it with ease in the final session, opening up a 31 point spread, 71-40, with 2:37 to play.

Perhaps the downfall of the Leopards was their dry spell in the final minute of the opening period that lasted until the 3:43 mark of the second period. In that five minutes and 17 seconds they managed just one point, a foul conversion by Dave Vanlier. Meanwhile the Crushers pushed their margin to 27-12 and then to 33-13 before the Leopards bagged their first field goal of the session.

The visitors dampened all hopes of the Leopards in the second period as they poured 25 points through the cords. The second stanza blitz was led by the visitors 6-3 center, Mike Valchoff, as he netted 13 points.

Four of the Crimson Crushers starters hit in double figures, led by Valchoff's 23 points for scoring honors. McDevitt had 14, and Little and Jim Stephens each had 10.

Dave Vanlier paced the Leopards' attack with 20 points and Howard Leak added 11.

The Leopards hit 19 field goals in 75 attempts for a 25.3 average.

Bishop McCort tried 72 shots and made 28 for a 38.8 percentage.

The visitors held a decided height advantage, with four of their starters over the six foot mark but the Leopards took the edge in rebounds 43-40. Dave Vanlier pulled in 21 rebounds as he enjoyed his best night in the short season.

The Midland JVs edged the Bishop McCort JVs in a 52-50 cliffhanger.

Midland led 49-48 with 27 seconds to play. Bub Bynum was fouled twice and he converted three out of four to give the young Leopards a 52-48 lead that held up despite the visitors' last second field goal.

Dennis Munko paced the Bishop McCort attack with 21 points to cop scoring honors.

Bynum led Midland with 14 points. Dave Franitti and Roger Singleton each added 11.

Hornyak took game scoring honors with 25 points, but Johnson allowed him only 2 field goals in 10 shots, both on follow-ups. Hornyak and the entire Bellaire team were deadly from the foul line with Hornyak's 13 of 14 pacing a 22 for 26 night.

Johnson left the game in the third period when he picked up his fourth personal. He was replaced by Tom Chambers, who sparked the Potters. It was 42-36 when Chambers entered and the home team pulled steadily away from that point, with the biggest lead being 60-42.

McConnell had praise for Johnson, Chambers, Jones and Diddle and said the whole team hustled well. But he worried about the mistakes and thought that the team could play better. The Potters made 16 turnovers to 15 for the losers. The locals used a full-court press part of the time and a switching man-to-man.

Also hitting double figures for the home team were Rick Steffan with 13 and Jerry Christian with 10. John Coyne backed Hornyak with 16 points. The Potters won the battle of the boards, 45-36, but led only 32-30 in this department entering the last period. Hornyak and Martin Lucki had eight rebounds each to pace St. John's. Christian added 9 to Jones' 17 for the locals.

The first period was nip-and-tuck and ended tied at 16. Sy Kolesza's outfit took their biggest lead, 20-16, but then Diddle and Jones got to work in earnest. Diddle made a hook shot, and then a lay-up and was fouled. He missed the foul but Jones tipped it in for a four-point play. Diddle then made a driving hook shot from the right corner that brought the capacity crowd to its feet and he was fouled in the process. Once again he missed and Jones tipped in the rebound. Steffen scored to complete the run of 12 straight points that made it 28-20 and the Potters never trailed again.

It got as close as 32-30 shortly before halftime, but Diddle threw in another hook shot and Steffen made two fouls after the buzzer to make it 36-30. Steffen scored twice after steals early in the third period but St. John's kept pace until Chambers entered the game.

Leopards Trounced 74-47

By JOHN MUELLER

The Midland Leopards went down to their second defeat in four games at the hands of Bishop McCort's Crimson Crushers of Johnstown by a score of 74-47 at the Midland court last night.

The Leopards made a game of it for approximately four minutes of the opening quarter, then the Crushers slowly put the squeeze on them and it was no contest.

Joe Little sent the Crushers off to a 2-0 lead with a fielder at the 7:02 mark of the opening period. Bob Needa tied it for the Leopards at the 6:36 mark for the only tie of the game.

Jerry McDevitt's fielder at 5:59 sent the Crushers ahead to stay. Midland managed to stay close at 7-6 and again at 9-8 at the 4:38 mark, but from there on Bishop McCort pulled steadily away. The visitors moved out to a 21-12 lead at the end of the first period, then took a 46-23 lead to the dressing room at intermission.

Bishop McCort led 57-34 at the three-quarter mark then made it with ease in the final session, opening up a 31 point spread, 71-40, with 2:37 to play.

Perhaps the downfall of the Leopards was their dry spell in the final minute of the opening period that lasted until the 3:43 mark of the second period. In that five minutes and 17 seconds they managed just one point, a foul conversion by Dave Vanlier. Meanwhile the Crushers pushed their margin to 27-12 and then to 33-13 before the Leopards bagged their first field goal of the session.

The visitors dampened all hopes of the Leopards in the second period as they poured 25 points through the cords. The second stanza blitz was led by the visitors 6-3 center, Mike Valchoff, as he netted 13 points.

Four of the Crimson Crushers starters hit in double figures, led by Valchoff's 23 points for scoring honors. McDevitt had 14, and Little and Jim Stephens each had 10.

Dave Vanlier paced the Leopards' attack with 20 points and Howard Leak added 11.

The Leopards hit 19 field goals in 75 attempts for a 25.3 average.

Bishop McCort tried 72 shots and made 28 for a 38.8 percentage.

The visitors held a decided height advantage, with four of their starters over the six foot mark but the Leopards took the edge in rebounds 43-40. Dave Vanlier pulled in 21 rebounds as he enjoyed his best night in the short season.

The Midland JVs edged the Bishop McCort JVs in a 52-50 cliffhanger.

Midland led 49-48 with 27 seconds to play. Bub Bynum was fouled twice and he converted three out of four to give the young Leopards a 52-48 lead that held up despite the visitors' last second field goal.

Dennis Munko paced the Bishop McCort attack with 21 points to cop scoring honors.

Bynum led Midland with 14 points. Dave Franitti and Roger Singleton each added 11.

UCLA Wins 36th; Dayton Is Upset

By TED MEIER

That two-point squeaker that UCLA scored over Purdue last week turned out to be just one of those things.

The national collegiate basketball champions routed Wichita State 120-86 in their home opener Friday night for their 36th straight victory.

Purdue, which took UCLA down to the final second before losing 73-71 at home, ran into an aroused Washington team at Seattle and lost 98-87.

Dayton, sixth-ranked in The Associated Press poll, also was upset on the road. The Flyers, beaten by UCLA in the NCAA championship final last March, went down before Eastern Kentucky 76-75.

Nebraska and Iowa State also suffered surprise setbacks on the road. Washington State whipped Nebraska 93-70 and San Fernando Valley State took Iowa State 87-72.

Tennessee Tech, playing at home, was upset by Howard Payne 80-69 while the home team Cincinnati Bearcats barely managed to edge Miami of Ohio 60-59.

Southern California opened an Eastern tour by beating Villanova 82-65 at Philadelphia. In other games Wyoming defeated Oklahoma State 72-62, Oregon downed Portland 62-52, Princeton crushed Colgate 71-43 and Pitt and Duquesne advanced to the final of the Steel Bowl at Pittsburgh. Pitt edged Massachusetts 73-71 after the Dukes had beaten Air Force 64-52.

With big Lew Alcindor scoring matched for UCLA, the team many feel will break this season the all-time winning streak of 60 set by San Francisco 12 years ago.

The nation's top-ranked team at one time led by 34 points before a sellout 12,233 at UCLA's Pauley Pavilion.

Purdue's star soph, Rick Mount who nearly upset UCLA in his varsity debut, got 23 points against Washington, but the unbeaten Huskies had the upper hand all the way. Dave Carrr's 24 points topped the Huskies against the seventh-ranked Boilermakers.

Four free throws by Gary Paul in the last 31 seconds gave Eastern Kentucky its upset over Dayton. Don May scored only three field goals, but 11 fouls to be high for the Flyers with 17 points. Boyd Lynch, a soph making his first start, led the Colonels with 28.

Gary Elliot led Washington State over Nebraska with 22 points. Tony Pazaricky, with 25 points, paced San Fernando in the upset victory over Iowa State.

No. 1 Charleston Scores Easy Win

By The Associated Press

No. 1-ranked Charleston High School pounded Belle DuPont in its basketball season opener at Belle Friday night 94-62 as guard Curtis Price poured in 32 points.

No. 2 Beckley also had an easy time in its opener, drubbing Shady Spring 91-50.

The only other member of the top ten in action Friday was No. 9 Wellsburg which was pounded by Wheeling 100-88.

Sixth - ranked Huntington topped Milton Thursday 86-71.

Charleston got a sterling shooting performance from Price who hit 15 of 22 attempts from the field.

Berkley, reportedly "loaded with talent" this season, had five players in double figures, led by Steve Lickliter's 21. Four others had 11 points.

Shady Spring had eight men in the scoring column and Lester Plumley's 11 was high. Starting guard Sterling Lewis of Shady Spring suffered a broken arm in the second quarter.

Peter Block Resigns As Penguin Official

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The biggest stockholder of the Pittsburgh Penguins, Peter H. Block, has resigned his post as vice president of the National Hockey League team.

"I have accomplished my primary objective of bringing big league hockey to the Pittsburgh district," Block said. He said Friday he was stepping down because he could not give his full time to the club.

Block, 34, organized the Penguins' 20-man syndicate with President Jack E. McGregor.

Southern 7th Grade Cage Team Wins

The Southern Local seventh grade basketball team opened its season Thursday with a 33-17 win over Springfield Local (Jefferson).

Steve Lockhart led the winners with 14 and Rick Stone had six for the losers.

UCLA Wins 36th; Dayton Is Upset

By TED MEIER

That two-point squeaker that UCLA scored over Purdue last week turned out to be just one of those things.

The national collegiate basketball champions routed Wichita State 120-86 in their home opener Friday night for their 36th straight victory.

Purdue, which took UCLA down to the final second before losing 73-71 at home, ran into an aroused Washington team at Seattle and lost 98-87.

Dayton, sixth-ranked in The Associated Press poll, also was upset on the road. The Flyers, beaten by UCLA in the NCAA championship final last March, went down before Eastern Kentucky 76-75.

Nebraska and Iowa State also suffered surprise setbacks on the road. Washington State whipped Nebraska 93-70 and San Fernando Valley State took Iowa State 87-72.

Tennessee Tech, playing at home, was upset by Howard Payne 80-69 while the home team Cincinnati Bearcats barely managed to edge Miami of Ohio 60-59.

Southern California opened an Eastern tour by beating Villanova 82-65 at Philadelphia. In other games Wyoming defeated Oklahoma State 72-62, Oregon downed Portland 62-52, Princeton crushed Colgate 71-43 and Pitt and Duquesne advanced to the final of the Steel Bowl at Pittsburgh. Pitt edged Massachusetts 73-71 after the Dukes had beaten Air Force 64-52.

With big Lew Alcindor scoring matched for UCLA, the team many feel will break this season the all-time winning streak of 60 set by San Francisco 12 years ago.

The nation's top-ranked team at one time led by 34 points before a sellout 12,233 at UCLA's Pauley Pavilion.

Purdue's star soph, Rick Mount who nearly upset UCLA in his varsity debut, got 23 points against Washington, but the unbeaten Huskies had the upper hand all the way. Dave Carrr's 24 points topped the Huskies against the seventh-ranked Boilermakers.

Four free throws by Gary Paul in the last 31 seconds gave Eastern Kentucky its upset over Dayton. Don May scored only three field goals, but 11 fouls to be high for the Flyers with 17 points. Boyd Lynch, a soph making his first start, led the Colonels with 28.

Gary Elliot led Washington State over Nebraska with 22 points. Tony Pazaricky, with 25 points, paced San Fernando in the upset victory over Iowa State.

No. 1 Charleston Scores Easy Win

By The Associated Press

No. 1-ranked Charleston High School pounded Belle DuPont in its basketball season opener at Belle Friday night 94-62 as guard Curtis Price poured in 32 points.

No. 2 Beckley also had an easy time in its opener, drubbing Shady Spring 91-50.

The only other member of the top ten in action Friday was No. 9 Wellsburg which was pounded by Wheeling 100-88.

Sixth - ranked Huntington topped Milton Thursday 86-71.

Charleston got a sterling shooting performance from Price who hit 15 of 22 attempts from the field.

Berkley, reportedly "loaded with talent" this season, had five players in double figures, led by Steve Lickliter's 21. Four others had 11 points.

Shady Spring had eight men in the scoring column and Lester Plumley's 11 was high. Starting guard Sterling Lewis of Shady Spring suffered a broken arm in the second quarter.

Peter Block Resigns As Penguin Official

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The biggest stockholder of the Pittsburgh Penguins, Peter H. Block, has resigned his post as vice president of the National Hockey League team.

"I have accomplished my primary objective of bringing big league hockey to the Pittsburgh district," Block said. He said Friday he was stepping down because he could not give his full time to the club.

Block, 34, organized the Penguins' 20-man syndicate with President Jack E. McGregor.

Southern 7th Grade Cage Team Wins

The Southern Local seventh grade basketball team opened its season Thursday with a 33-17 win over Springfield Local (Jefferson).

Steve Lockhart led the winners with 14 and Rick Stone had six for the losers.

Earliest important maps showed the coast lines of the Aegean Sea and were used by the Greek sailors.

2 IN MEMORIAM

FLORENCE HULL, Mother Dear, You went to heaven 6 years ago this morning, and what I would give to clasp your hand, Your dear sweet face to see. To hear your voice, to see your smile, that meant so much to me. You left behind an aching heart that loved you most sincere. I never did nor never will forget you Mother Dear.
—Daughters, Sons and Husband.

In loving memory of EDDIE GREEN; who passed away November 9th, 1967: Remembering the days that we shared thru the years— The ones that were happy. The ones filled with tears. I could not choose one day to set it apart. Each moment was precious And dear to my heart. So I will treasure in my memory The things that you were and still are to me. The grief that I feel no few words can express. No tears can dispel my sad loneliness. I miss you.
—Sadly missed by Loved One

In loving memory of MARY McDEVITT ALLISON, who died 12 years ago, Dec. 9, 1955: Tender thoughts, a secret tear, Makes her memory ever near.
Sadly missed by loved ones.

Junior Editors Quiz on CURLY HAIR

QUESTION: Why do some people have naturally straight hair and others curly?

ANSWER: Each of the hairs on your head—and on the heads of the two girls in our picture—is a shaft which, seen through a low-power microscope, would look about as shown in the two circles .But notice the difference in the two hair shafts. The one on top is flattened in places, as shown in the cross section. This means that as the hair grows out, some parts grow faster than other. It is this which twists the hairs around, making a curly-haired effect. In contrast, the lower shaft is straight and the cross section round. There is nothing to prevent this girl's hair from falling straight down in the handsome effect so many girls like these days.

We don't make predictions in this column, but we would like to hint to our curly-haired friends that fashions do change. Once, the curly-heads were on top. Greek and Roman women had curls, and curls appeared at many other times in history; sometimes in a full head of curly hair; sometimes, as in the 1860's, falling down in long luxuriant ringlets. Our guess is that curly hair will one day be with us again.

Congress Set To Ban Relatives On Payrolls

By ROBERT T. GRAY
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is about to pass a delayed-action law prohibiting members from putting relatives on their office payrolls.

The ban against nepotism won't affect the various wives, sons, in-laws and other kin now employed in congressional offices.

But representatives and senators would, under the bill, no longer be able to hire relatives or seek jobs for them elsewhere on the congressional payroll.

An Associated Press survey earlier this year showed more than 50 members of Congress had relativeso n their payrolls at the time or had employed them at some period in the previous year.

The anti-nepotism provision tached as a rider to a bill to raise postal rates and salaries of federal employes.

The bill appears headed for final congressional passage next week and President Johnson is expected to sign it.

The anti-nepotism ban was atapplies to the executive and judicial branches of government as well as to Congress.

Officials in any agency with hirings and promoting authority could not put relatives on the agency payroll.

It does not apply to military assignments.

One grass-roots effect will be a ban on hiring of relatives by postmasters, said to be a frequent practice in smaller communities.

At the top levels of government, it bars, for example, a president from appointing a relative to a Cabinet post.

That happened in 1961 when Robert F. Kennedy, now a senator, was named attorney general by his brother, President John F. Kennedy.

The architects and floor managers of the postal rate-pay bill had no plans for striking at nepotism in the bill.

Congressional leaders have long been cool to such prohibitions.

House Speaker John W. McCormack, commenting on the Associated Press survey, said he did not see that a congressman's putting a relative on his payroll was wrong in itself. The sole question, he said, was whether the person hired was capable and did the job properly.

But Rep. Neal Smith, D-Iowa, didn't agree. He introduced this year, for the fourth consecutive session of Congress, a bill to outlaw nepotism.

'Off Rocker,' Lausche Told During Fight

WASHINGTON (AP) — Future historians relying on The Congressional Record may never know that Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield told another senator during debate that he was off his rocker.

The historians will read a tamer exchange between Mansfield and Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D.-Ohio, which occurred Wednesday during debate on the federal aid to education bill.

Lausche, complaining about the defeat of an amendment he sponsored, declared he had been "blitzed by orders which came down from the mountain top."

In Washington, this could only mean the White House.

Mansfield replied: "I think the senator from Ohio is off his rocker."

But The Record, official journal of Congress, reports the exchange went this way:

Lausche: "I know when I am outvoted on the basis of merit and I know when I am blitzed on the basis of fear of the elections in 1968."

Mansfield: "I think the senator from Ohio is off base in making a statement to that effect."

Senators can revise the stenographic transcript of debate before it's published in The Record.

A company spokesman made the announcement Friday, saying the price hike would go into effect at midnight Monday.

The spokesman said, however, that the company has lowered the price of its long terne sheets by an undisclosed amount.

Peace Corps Work Asked By Sheppard

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Peace Corps said Friday that Samuel H. Sheppard, Cleveland osteopath who served 10 years in prison but later was acquitted of second - degree murder charges in the death of his first wife, has volunteered for Peace Corps duty.

A spokesman for the corps said the application was received late last week and is being processed. This normally requires about eight weeks.

Sheppard did not limit his application to volunteer work in his professional field, as an osteopathic physician, the spokesman said. He added that the corps attempts to fit an individual's skills to the particular needs of an assignment involved in a nation's request for aid.

If Sheppard has skills that would seem to fit the needs of a volunteer job, he then would be considered for training.

The U.S. Supreme Court ordered a new trial for Sheppard after he served 10 years. The court said there was "prejudicial publicity" and a "carnival atmosphere" at the first trial. In the second trial he was acquitted.

Peace Corps representatives said that insofar as they know his acquittal has restored all of Sheppard's civil rights so that legally he would be eligible for Peace Corps work.

Sheppard's first wife, Marilyn, was bludgeoned to death July 4, 1954.

His second wife, Ariane, came to the United States from Germany to help in his efforts to upset the first trial conviction and she married him the day after his release from prison.

Council will meet in special session Dec. 18 to act on final adoption of the budget in line with a new state law setting a Dec. 31 deadline on municipal budgets.

End of year bills totaling $396 were paid, including salaries for the elected officials. President Curtis Finley was in charge.

The Ohio Highway Patrol said she was headed east, attempting to pass another vehicle, when the car went off the road, spun around and went over the guardrails. Damage to the 1959 auto was minor.

Robert E. Wolfe, involved in a three-car accident Thursday, complained of chest pains and shortness of breath while he was being held in jail on a charge of drunken driving and improper registration. He was X-rayed at the hospital and released to officers about 4:10 p.m.

The officers assisted a Smiths Ferry area woman when she complained of chest pains Friday. Authorities were summoned to the Diamond Tavern by George Garvey, brother of Alice Garvey, 52, of Smiths Ferry RD 1, about 1:19 a. m. today. Upon arrival the patrolmen found the woman having difficulty breathing and an ambulance was called to take her to the hospital.

Congress Set To Ban Relatives On Payrolls

By ROBERT T. GRAY
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is about to pass a delayed-action law prohibiting members from putting relatives on their office payrolls.

The ban against nepotism won't affect the various wives, sons, in-laws and other kin now employed in congressional offices.

But representatives and senators would, under the bill, no longer be able to hire relatives or seek jobs for them elsewhere on the congressional payroll.

An Associated Press survey earlier this year showed more than 50 members of Congress had relativeso n their payrolls at the time or had employed them at some period in the previous year.

The anti-nepotism provision tached as a rider to a bill to raise postal rates and salaries of federal employes.

The bill appears headed for final congressional passage next week and President Johnson is expected to sign it.

The anti-nepotism ban was atapplies to the executive and judicial branches of government as well as to Congress.

Officials in any agency with hirings and promoting authority could not put relatives on the agency payroll.

It does not apply to military assignments.

One grass-roots effect will be a ban on hiring of relatives by postmasters, said to be a frequent practice in smaller communities.

At the top levels of government, it bars, for example, a president from appointing a relative to a Cabinet post.

That happened in 1961 when Robert F. Kennedy, now a senator, was named attorney general by his brother, President John F. Kennedy.

The architects and floor managers of the postal rate-pay bill had no plans for striking at nepotism in the bill.

Congressional leaders have long been cool to such prohibitions.

House Speaker John W. McCormack, commenting on the Associated Press survey, said he did not see that a congressman's putting a relative on his payroll was wrong in itself. The sole question, he said, was whether the person hired was capable and did the job properly.

But Rep. Neal Smith, D-Iowa, didn't agree. He introduced this year, for the fourth consecutive session of Congress, a bill to outlaw nepotism.

'Off Rocker,' Lausche Told During Fight

WASHINGTON (AP) — Future historians relying on The Congressional Record may never know that Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield told another senator during debate that he was off his rocker.

The historians will read a tamer exchange between Mansfield and Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D.-Ohio, which occurred Wednesday during debate on the federal aid to education bill.

Lausche, complaining about the defeat of an amendment he sponsored, declared he had been "blitzed by orders which came down from the mountain top."

In Washington, this could only mean the White House.

Mansfield replied: "I think the senator from Ohio is off his rocker."

But The Record, official journal of Congress, reports the exchange went this way:

Lausche: "I know when I am outvoted on the basis of merit and I know when I am blitzed on the basis of fear of the elections in 1968."

Mansfield: "I think the senator from Ohio is off base in making a statement to that effect."

Senators can revise the stenographic transcript of debate before it's published in The Record.

Peace Corps Work Asked By Sheppard

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Peace Corps said Friday that Samuel H. Sheppard, Cleveland osteopath who served 10 years in prison but later was acquitted of second - degree murder charges in the death of his first wife, has volunteered for Peace Corps duty.

A spokesman for the corps said the application was received late last week and is being processed. This normally requires about eight weeks.

Sheppard did not limit his application to volunteer work in his professional field, as an osteopathic physician, the spokesman said. He added that the corps attempts to fit an individual's skills to the particular needs of an assignment involved in a nation's request for aid.

If Sheppard has skills that would seem to fit the needs of a volunteer job, he then would be considered for training.

The U.S. Supreme Court ordered a new trial for Sheppard after he served 10 years. The court said there was "prejudicial publicity" and a "carnival atmosphere" at the first trial. In the second trial he was acquitted.

Peace Corps representatives said that insofar as they know his acquittal has restored all of Sheppard's civil rights so that legally he would be eligible for Peace Corps work.

Sheppard's first wife, Marilyn, was bludgeoned to death July 4, 1954.

His second wife, Ariane, came to the United States from Germany to help in his efforts to upset the first trial conviction and she married him the day after his release from prison.

Council will meet in special session Dec. 18 to act on final adoption of the budget in line with a new state law setting a Dec. 31 deadline on municipal budgets.

End of year bills totaling $396 were paid, including salaries for the elected officials. President Curtis Finley was in charge.

The officers assisted a Smiths Ferry area woman when she complained of chest pains Friday. Authorities were summoned to the Diamond Tavern by George Garvey, brother of Alice Garvey, 52, of Smiths Ferry RD 1, about 1:19 a. m. today. Upon arrival the patrolmen found the woman having difficulty breathing and an ambulance was called to take her to the hospital.
